Dickens Christmas Play

Spectators of this year's Dickens Christmas play can expect witty and light-heartedness in the play titled The Farndale Avenue Estate Townswomen's Guild Dramatic Society's Production of A Christmas Carol, a comedy by David McGillivray and Walter Zerlin Junior.

The play is a comedic version of the classic Dicken's Christmas Carol.

There will be familiar characters on stage but in a totally "new to Garrison" way. The cast has had fun finding new ways to bring the classic characters to life.

In light of the COVID-19 pandemic, the cast took on the challenge of preparing a play that may not have seen the stage lights in 2020, but they gave it their all, hoping that they will get to utter the most famous line of all... "GOD BLESS US, EVERY ONE!"

Performances are Nov. 26 and Nov. 27, beginning at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 4 at 2 p.m. and Dec. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the Sakakawea Area Council for the Arts' KOTA Theater.

Tickets are available for purchase at the N.D. Firefighters Museum the day of, or in advance by visiting www.dickensfestival.com or by calling 1-800-799-4242.

Who is Charles Dickens?

Born in Portsmouth, England February 7, 1812, Charles John Huffam Dickens was an English writer and social critic.

He created some of the world's best known fictional characters and is regarded as the greatest novelist of the Victorian era.

His works enjoyed unprecedented popularity during his lifetime, and by the 20th Century, critics and scholars recognized him as a literary genius. His novels and short stories enjoy lasting popularity.

Despite his lack of formal education, he edited a weekly journal for 20 years, wrote 15 novels, five novellas, hundreds of short stories and non-fiction articles, lectured and performed extensively, was an indefatigable letter writer, and campaigned vigorously for children's rights, education, and other social reforms.

Dickens's literary success began with the 1836 serial publication of The Pickwick Papers.

Within a few years he had become an international literary celebrity, famous for his humor, satire and keen observation of character and society.

His novels, most published in monthly or weekly installments, pioneered the serial publication of narrative fiction, which became the dominant Victorian mode for novel publication.

The installment format allowed Dickens to evaluate his audience's reaction, and he often modified his plot and character development based on such feedback.

He died of a stroke June 9, 1870, leaving his final novel, The Mystery of Edwin Drood, unfinished.

He is buried in the Poets' Corner of Westminster Abbey.
Charles Dickens | Feb. 7. 1812 – June 9, 1870

Dickens facts:

- Second of eight children.
- He was forced to leave school at the age of 12 to work in a boot blacking factory along the River Thames when his father was incarcerated in a debtors' prison.
- In 1833, he began submitting sketches to various magazines and newspapers under the pseudonym "Boz."
- Dickens began writing "A Christmas Carol" in October 1843. It was finished by the end of November and was published in time for Christmas.
- Dickens and his wife, Catherine, (Hogarth) had 10 children before the couple separated in 1858.

Dickens, the beginning

The Dickens Village Festival has come a long way, baby.

The event kicked off in 1994 with a lighting ceremony in the city park after a community-wide Thanksgiving church service. Lights in the park were financed with money from memorials.

The first play, performed by a Sakakawea Area Council for the Arts cast, was a musical featuring 56 people.

The Main Street of Garrison came alive with a hand-full of street vendors. The first street vendors were the Potato Man and the Garrison Fire Department hawking pickled fish.

House tours were of the Robin's Nest Bed & Breakfast, now a private residence, and the rural Norlan Nelson home.

The first Dickens ornament was ordered.

The First Congregational Church hosted a Victorian dinner and tea, which then developed into the famous English High Tea.

The lit-up jingle bell lights on Main Street were later replaced with wrought iron brackets on light poles. In preparation for each festival, the poles are decorated with garland and bows.

Today, it's estimated that at least 1,000 people attend each day, sometimes as many as 3,000. A survey by the University of Mary in 2009 showed the festival generated an average of $175,000 each day.

Yeah, we've come a long way, baby.

Get the royal treatment

Since its arrival, The Queen Elizabeth has made her way into the hearts of the community and its guests.

While she was once called a “majestic old beast,” the Garrison community now sees her as a beauty. The transformation required hundreds of hours of volunteer labor and included a huge fundraising drive.

The refurbished Queen Elizabeth was on the streets in 2009 with new paint, replaced window stripping, signage, reupholstered seats and new carpeting.

In 2010, the flooring was completed; the PA system and heat have also been improved. Better heating was added to the driver’s cab.

The next step was to build a shelter to house the Queen. The Dickens Festival Committee purchased a small building on Main Street.

When the queen isn’t in use, it can be viewed inside its “home.” A 20x40 building with 16-foot sidewalls – and plexi-glass panels for easy year-around viewing -- was constructed behind the building in 2011.

The efforts to improve the bus were all part of a major fundraising effort that involved the individual “sale” of seats, corporate donations and the generosity of the Garrison Sales and Use Tax Committee. (Check out the list of donors on a plaque inside the bus.)

Once ready for its makeover, there were more obstacles for the Queen. The only commercial painting bid was for $19,000 from a Bismarck company, so volunteers took on the project during the summer and fall of 2009. Upholstery and carpeting were done by Brenda’s Decor.

Volunteers Dick and Melissa Messerly, Ryan Nelson and Raymond Halverson devoted numerous evenings and weekends to the bus project. Brenda Mai, owner of Brenda’s Decor, enlisted the help of brothers Floyd and Richard Kolobakken when she was “re-installing” wall board in the 11th hour before the 2009 festival.

In 2014, the Queen blew a gasket. Since English gaskets are impossible to find in the states, the help of an Olde England repair shop was enlisted to make a mold of the old gasket and create a new one. Rensch’s, an auto and farm equipment business in Garrison, became the Queen’s repair shop and she was restored to running order.

The once dowdy queen that arrived in May 2005, had become worthy of her name, Queen Elizabeth. It’s a name she’d been given before arriving in Garrison.

The cherry red double-decker 1961 English bus first appeared at the Garrison Chamber of Commerce’s annual kick-off to summer in 2005. Since then the Queen can be spotted at many local events, weddings, area community celebrations and open houses.

The double-decker came to Garrison as part of a brainstorming session by former Fort Stevenson State Park Manager Dick Messerly and local business owner Mike Gackle. After exploring the internet, they learned such a vehicle existed. They searched for one that was both affordable and could be transported to Garrison. The closest was in Sergeant Bluff, Iowa.

After hearing about the idea, the Dickens Village Festival Committee decided to purchase the bus, sight unseen.

The rest is history.

FUELS THE BUS

during the Dickens Village Festival

STOP IN WHERE THE QUEEN FILLS UP!

A few facts about the Queen

- 1961 Bristol Lodekka (FLF Model – flat bottom floor, long body and front entrance). Built in England through a contract with the English government as part of the first double-decker bus fleet.

- Only 1,867 FLF models were built between 1959 and 1968. It is unknown how many are still operational.

- 24 volt electrical system
- 4-speed manual transmission system (constant mesh.)
- 70 passenger capacity.
- 6-cylinder Bristol diesel engine.
- Top speed is 40 miles per hour.

- Steering wheel is on the right side of the bus with no power steering and gear shift is on the left side of the driver.

- Originally painted green in England because it was a non-London bus; only the double-deckers in London were printed the typical red.

- Brought to the U.S. In 1980 by a Denver, Colo. Company. It was then sold to a company in Georgia, then a company in Iowa and finally to the Dickens Village Festival for $5,000 in 2005.

Carriage rides

Each day of the Festival, from 1 p.m.-5 p.m., weather permitting, Dickens guests will have the opportunity to ride around in a decorated horse-drawn carriage. Pick-up and drop-off site will be at 1 Central Ave, northeast of the City Auditorium.

Take in the trees

While taking in the many attractions to enjoy during the festival, be sure to look for the seven specialty Christmas trees, all crafted and decorated by Garrison's own Jill Fuller.

Starting at The Cubby Hole, "the "Back Home" Christmas tree is a nostalgia-packed tree that includes ice skates, sleds, holly berries and bells.

While you are at the Cubby Hole, be sure to check out two more trees. "Let It Sew" is a tribute to the Dickens Quilt Show and will be sporting vintage sewing items, as well as handmade ornaments.

The "Afternoon Tea With Grandma" tree is decorated with pink gingerbread houses, bottle brush trees, pink nutcrackers, vintage ornaments, fine china and old lace. Be sure to enjoy the quilts – and a cuppa tea – while you're at The Cubby Hole as authentic British tea – imported straight from London – will be served there at Quilts & Cuppa Tea 12 p.m. to 4 p.m. everyday during the festival.

At the Garrison City Auditorium, among the vendors at Piccadilly Square, be sure to take in "Joy to the World," a Christmas tree pealed with bells, farmhouse-inspired ornaments and Christmas houses. A special feature include antique typewriters under the tree.

KOTA Theater will showcase "Candy Land," a tree dripping with sweet treats including gingerbread houses, marshmallows and candy canes – enough to leave you craving something sweet! The gallery will also be decorated in a Victorian-inspired style. Be sure to check these out when if you enjoy the entertaining shows and the Christmas Carol play!

If you're looking for a place to warm up, the Garrison Lamplighters will offer that, as well as two more Christmas trees to enjoy! "Grandma's Kitchen" is sure to invoke memories of times gone by. Also, the "Downtown Dickens" tree honors the Dickens Village Festival Committee. It is a glam, flocked tree with silvers, golds and champagne-colored décor.

Each of the Christmas trees takes around 10 to 12 hours to complete. This is Fuller's fourth year decorating the Dickens Village Festival trees, but she has a lifetime of experience decorating her own trees.

Warming Houses Await

Looking for a place to warm those fingers, toes and noses? Want a place to sit and relax? There are a number of locations in downtown Garrison.

N.D. Firefighter's Museum

The N.D. Firefighter's Museum, on Main Street, is a popular attraction that ranks with Wally Walleye.

During the Dickens Village Festival the museum and hall of fame is open to the public from noon to 7 p.m.

Guests are welcome to come in from the cold and tour the museum. See who are members of the North Dakota Firefighter's Hall of Fame.

Public restrooms are located on the main floor.

The museum is dedicated to preserving and presenting stories of the firefighters of North Dakota.

Just south of the museum is the N.D. Fallen Firefighter's Memorial that honors fallen firefighters who lost their lives in the line of duty.

Garrison Lamplighters

The Garrison Lamplighters (Senior Center), located on Central Avenue and adjoining City Hall, is another location to relax and warm up, or both! The center is open from 9 a.m.- 7 p.m. each day of the festival.

Film crew visits Dickens

The crew of eight plus the CVB director, a volunteer and a few stragglers all squeezed their way into the tiny Dickens Village store for an interview during the 2019 Dickens Village Festival.

The film crew from Minneapolis descended on the Dickens Village Festival as part of a video they were making called, "Hometown Pride."

Even though some in the group were younger than the 26-year-old festival, they had a seasoned appreciation for all that went into it.

"I hate to say this but I was not thinking it was going to be such a young crew in here. I'm not meaning that in a bad way," McKaila Behles, the then-CVB director.

"We are not offended, no," said Rachel Oehlky.

While looking at the hats made by the Benedictine Living Center, one of the producers said, "I want one, but I don't think it will fit in my carry-on."

The crew went on to buy multiple toys, miniature Elizabeths and a few sets of salt and pepper shakers.

They seemed to be drawn to the question of small town hospitality, since they were all from the Minneapolis/St. Paul area. They listened intently to Behles speak about what this event means to this community.

"Community is coming together all for a common good, a prosperous community that continues to grow. That really takes everyone in town coming together for a common goal," she said.

Behles stressed the importance of volunteerism in Garrison and how everyone in the area is good about giving their time to make this town what it is.

"For a small town local it's that feeling of going in and everyone knowing your name, it's that feeling," Behles said. "But I also so think when a guest comes in from out of town they feel welcomed, they feel like we want them to be here and you enjoy that they came to your town to support it."

After the interview was over, Mandi Goplen, Oehlky and Sally Mollman had a few free minutes to hop on the carriage ride and take a tour around town. The three also discussed what other events they were going to check out. The Elizabeths and fruit cake toss came up as must sees.

Mollman was all smiles about the festival. "Dickens is awesome — it's so much fun," she said. "I've only been to North Dakota once before, and coming to Dickens has just been such a great experience. I've never been to a community where a town rallies around like Garrison does. Everyone here, no matter who I've talked to, has just been so accommodating. It's fun because that community spirit comes through in this festival."

She said the food was also a complete delight. "I'd have to say the sausage on a stick would be my favorite," she said.
