Team Minot SF members pass the torch for Special Olympics

SENIOR AIRMAN KRISTOFFER KAUBISCH | MINOT AIR FORCE BASE PUBLIC AFFAIRS

MINOT, N.D. -- Team Minot security forces members participated in the 2016 Law Enforcement Torch Run in Minot, North Dakota, June 9.

The annual North Dakota event, which began in 1985, raises awareness and funds for Special Olympics North Dakota and the State Summer Games. Over 30 Airmen from Minot Air Force Base participated in the event this year.

"The torch run is important, not only to raise money for the Special Olympics, but also to show unity between all the law enforcement agencies in the state," said Staff Sgt. Kody LeBaron, 5th Security Forces Assistant noncommissioned officer in charge of Electronic Security Systems.

The run started at Minot AFB's main gate and ended nearly 15 miles away at a restaurant down town. The long distance combined with the summer heat made for a trying, yet positive experience.

"I had never ran that distance in my life, so it was great being pushed to finish knowing I was supporting a good cause," LeBaron said.

"It was very fun to do the run."

Although the run has a very specific purpose, it doesn't hurt to allow some friendly competition along the way, with prizes for placing in the top three runners to finish the race.

"I got involved to support a great cause," LeBaron said. "With that said, I also wanted to participate with my squadron and represent the 5th SFS!"

In North Dakota alone, Law Enforcement Torch Run events raise more than $145,000 annually in support of Special Olympics North Dakota.

Team Minot offers a SAFE ride for all Airmen

MINOT AIR FORCE BASE, N.D. -- Operation Safe Ride ensures all Airmen from Minot Air Force Base, North Dakota, have a safe ride home if they find themselves in an uncomfortable situation.

Some of the newer Airmen on base may not know about OSR or do not realize that it is an option to get home safe.

The president of OSR, Staff Sgt. Garret Medlock, NCO in charge of outbound cargo assigned to the 5th Logistics Readiness Squadron, said he and the command chief of the 5th Bomb Wing, Chief Master Sgt. Geoff Weimer, have come to an agreement that they don't just want OSR to be an option for drunken driving, but rather to approach it from a different angle where OSR is fostering a community of wingmanship in all situations.

The Sexual Assault Prevention and Response office has been working with OSR to help find a procedure if someone feels that they are in an uncomfortable situation, they can call OSR to pick them up and get them home safely, said Medlock.

In 2016, 202 Airmen have volunteered their time to guarantee a safe ride for Team Minot, ensuring 372 people a ride home.

"Last year, there was a total of 26 DUI's on Minot Air Force Base," said Medlock, who added that up to May of this year there have already been 23 DUI's.

Many organizations on base are taking some necessary steps to reduce the number of DUI's on Minot AFB.

"We have it set up so that each weekend is assigned to a specific unit," said

Medlock. "If someone not in that unit wanted to volunteer for the weekend, all they would have to do is go to the 5th Bomb Wing share drive and in the Operation Safe Ride folder there is a schedule for the entire year. A person could go look at the schedule and find the unit representative for the weekend they want to volunteer and contact them."

Unit representatives are reminded by OSR about their weekend a couple weeks in advance, then again right before the weekend to make sure they have enough volunteers. If they do not have enough volunteers, OSR will reach out to the Minot Enlisted Airman's Club and other organizations on base to get more help.

"Volunteering for OSR is not just for enlisted Airmen, it is also open to officers and civilian employees on base," said Medlock.

According to the OSR bylaws, a volunteer has to have driven during a Minot winter to be able to drive the OSR vans. However, during the summer months, there are no restrictions.

"Operation Safe Ride works purely on donations," said Medlock. "If you just gave $5 or $10 it is still way cheaper than a taxi and you are ensuring that we can continue to do the good service that we are trying to do."

If you're underage, don't drink; if you're of age, don't drink and drive; never, ever leave your Wingman.

If interested in volunteering or if you ever need a safe ride home, call 701-723-SAFE(7233).

Bomber airpower resonates with Saber Strike ground forces

SENIOR AIRMAN SAHARA L. FALES | 5TH EXPEDITIONARY OPERATIONS GROUP PUBLIC AFFAIRS

ROYAL AIR FORCE FAIRFORD, United Kingdom -- Minot Air Force Base's B-52H Stratofortresses in conjunction with U.S. and Latvian Army joint terminal air controllers, JTACs, participated in their first mission to kick-off the multinational and U.S. Army Europe-led exercise Saber Strike 16, in Latvia, June 13, 2016.

Saber Strike is a long-standing training exercise, which has been conducted annually since 2010. This year's exercise will focus on promoting interoperability with allies and regional partners and improving joint operational capability in a variety of missions to prepare the participating nations and units for future operations.

"The purpose of the Saber Strike exercise is to work with our NATO allies and do bilateral training with those nations," said Capt. David Miller, 23rd Expeditionary Bomb Squadron radar navigator. "It is important to conduct training on both sides -- as iron sharpens iron, they get better combat skills out of it and so do we."

The exercise features the integration of close-air support, or CAS, with allied and partner nation ground forces as well as tests air deployment of forces and equipment. Participating nations include Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, as well as Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Luxembourg, Norway, Poland, Slovenia, United Kingdom and the United States.

During their first mission, the B-52 aircrew worked with a targeting pod, which gives them the capability to use infrared or a day-time charge-coupled device TV, to view targets on the ground then decide whether to investigate, loiter and watch, or direct munitions.

"My role as the radar navigator was to talk with the JTACs on the ground and guide out pod video for a bomb-on-target CAS scenario," Miller said. "It was a very unique experience, and a great chance for us to go out and train how we fight."

Saber Strike 16 serves as an effective proving ground for participating units to validate their ability to assemble rapid-reaction forces and deploy them throughout Eastern Europe on short notice. The exercise trains participants on command and control as well as interoperability with regional allies and partners.

"As a navigator, my job was to push the crew along through the day by running checklists and getting us where we need to be on-time," said 1Lt. Josh Biedebach, 23rd EBS navigator. "That's one of the most important things; that our NATO friends can trust that we'll be on-time on-target, whenever they need us."

One of the B-52's most notable attributes centers on its payload, capability and diversity.

"The B-52 is a great weapons platform, we can carry nearly every air-to-ground munition in the U.S. Air Force inventory," Miller said. "We bring a veritable Swiss army knife of tools and capabilities to the ground war fighter."

"The B-52 is definitely one of the more iconic aircraft in the U.S. inventory," Biedebach agreed. "I think it sends a message of protection and strength to our allies around the world."

Trouble in Suburbia

Girls bring the party—and more—in Neighbors 2: Sorority Rising

NEIL POND | PARADE MAGAZINE

When a sorority moves in next door to a family trying to sell their house, it's trouble.

That's the quick premise, but this ribald new comedy—a sequel to the 2014 hit—puts a fresh, topical spin on its predecessor, while reuniting its cast and hewing mostly to its original manic framework.

Mac (Seth Rogen) and Kelly (Rose Byrne), now the parents of a 4-year-old daughter (Elise Vargas) with another on the way, have sold their suburban house... sort of. It's in a 30-day escrow hold, which means the buyer has a month to decide—or back out. That's troubling news, because Mac and Kelly have already bought another house, no strings attached.

It's especially troubling when a sorority roosts in the vacant, broken-down fraternity house next door. But not just any sorority: The young women of the freshly minted, renegade Kappa Nu (led by Chloë Grace Moretz, Kiersey Clemons and Beanie Feldstein) have split from the campus Greek system, fed up with the leering bro-before-hos sexism of fraternities and the prissy, priggish constraints of the established sororities. At Kappa Nu, it's weed, wild parties and full-throttle fem-centric fun, all the time.

And look who's come aboard as their advisor: Mac and Kelly's old next-door fraternity nemesis, Teddy (Zac Efron). But the girls increasingly see Teddy as out of touch, and his old college frat-boy crew (including Dave Franco, Jerrod Carmichael, and Christopher Mintz-Plasse) have all grown up and moved on faster than him.

Where does Teddy fit in? It may be where you—and he—would least expect...

How all these comedic strands weave together and work is in the hands of director Nicholas Stoller, who also steered Get Him to the Greek, the marvelous Forgetting Sarah Marshall and the original Neighbors. He once again has a great cast, down to the cameos by Lisa Kudrow (as a deadpan dean), Selena Gomez (as a rival sorority president) and Kelsey Grammer (as a pleading parent).

Rogen, who also collaborated on the screenplay, makes sure to push his probing agenda with plenty of pot jokes, including one extended weed-heist sequence that feels like an action-movie parody. But look through the haze (and the randy, raunchy jokes) and you'll find something else: a movie with empathetic messages about acceptance and inclusion, gender rights and sexism, hypocrisy and double standards, mothers and fathers and daughters, loving families, girls who grow up to become young women, and growing up in general.

And in the middle of it all is its secret weapon, the former High School Musical star Efron, who at the age of 28 has proven his adaptability in a wide variety of roles, particularly comedy. As Teddy, he brings something to the part richer and fuller and much more dimensional than what was flat on the page, an ache to belong and to be "valued" that resonates beyond the script's jokes about dope, crazy pranks and a raucous rift between crazy college kids and cranky "old people."

Neighbors 2 is the rare sequel that grows up with its audience, its subject matter and its subjects—and gets even funnier and more meaningful in the process.

Green Chile Chicken Enchilada Dip

INGREDIENTS:

- 4 ounces low fat cream cheese, room temperature
- 1 cup plain non fat Greek yogurt
- 1/2 cup green enchilada sauce
- 7 ounce can diced green chiles
- 1/2 t. cumin
- 1/2 t. chili powder
- 1/2 t. kosher salt
- 3 cups cooked chicken, shredded
- 1/2 cup part skim mozzarella
- 1/2 cup monterey jack cheese, divided

INSTRUCTIONS:

In a large bowl whisk together the cream cheese, yogurt, enchilada sauce, green chiles, and spices. Fold in the shredded chicken, mozzarella, and 1/4 cup of the monterey jack cheese. Place all of the ingredients in the slow cooker and cook on low for 2 hours. Remove the dip from the slow cooker and put it in an oven safe dish. Top with the remaining cheese and stick it under the broiler until the cheese is lightly browned. Serve with chips, crackers, or vegetables.

Lemon Cream Turnovers

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 sheet puff pastry, thawed (1 sheet equals 4 large turnovers)
- 1/2 cup whipped cream cheese
- 1/3 cup lemon curd (homemade or store-bought)
- 1 Tbsp lemon zest (about the zest of 1 large lemon)
- 3 Tbsp + 1 Tbsp sugar
- 1 egg, beaten

INSTRUCTIONS:

Preheat oven to 400 degrees and line a baking sheet with parchment paper or foil (in case any of the filling leaks out of the turnovers, the parchment paper or foil will make for easy clean-up). Unfold your thawed puff pastry dough. With a sharp knife, cut the dough into four equal squares. Set aside. In a mixing bowl, mix whipped cream cheese, lemon curd, lemon zest, and 3 Tbsp of sugar together until well combined. Place about 2 Tbsp of filling into the corner of each square of puff pastry. Fold the pastry diagonally, and crimp the edges with a fork. Brush the tops and edges of each turnover with egg wash, and sprinkle each with the remaining 1 Tbsp of sugar. Bake for 18-20 minutes, or until pastry is puffed and golden brown. Allow to cool for a few minutes and enjoy!

Burlington Painter Featured at Northwest Art Center

NORTHWEST ART CENTER | MINOT STATE UNIVERSITY

Still life oil paintings of Burlington artist Donna Watts will be featured in the Northwest Art Center's Hartnett Hall Gallery June 16 through July 15, 2016. "Inspired by Show" includes 40 works created using "old methods and traditional Old Masters still life subjects, but in a modern interpretation of style," according to Watts. "The works of the Old Masters have always been a source of inspiration in my study and technique, and I have recently returned to using the old methods and materials of oil paint and canvas preparation," said Watts. Watts studied studio art at Valparaiso (Indiana) University and at the Dru Blair School of Art in Blair, SC, as well as independently with various instructors. She has been exhibiting her artwork for over 50 years. Her work is on display throughout the Midwest, and she teaches workshops at artist studios in Iowa, the Chicago area, and North Dakota. At her Burlington studio, Art Relief, "artists of various mediums join me to learn light and color theory, as well as other realism techniques that can be adapted to their own styles and methods," said Watts. The exhibit is free and open to the public. The gallery is open 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and other hours by appointment.

The program focuses on teaching youth how to golf using clubs fitted especially for them. The emphasis is following an instructional program developed to teach the fundamentals of golf and show it can be a fun sport to participate in.

For only $100.00, each child receives their very own set of starter golf clubs, golf instruction by an experienced golf instructor, and on course playing time. For additional information, contact the Rough Rider Golf Course at 723-3164.

Team Minot welcomes new 91st MW commander

MINOT AIR FORCE BASE, N.D.

MINOT AIR FORCE BASE, N.D. -- Like any commander, Brig. Gen. Michael Lutton, former 91st Missile Wing commander, is transitioning out of Minot Air Force Base, North Dakota after his two year mark.

After two years at Minot, he remembers his first lasting impression of the "Magic City."

"I got here the 16th of June 2014 and I thought it was absolutely beautiful," Lutton said. "I like the country outdoor stuff so I really thought it was beautiful."

Getting through the winter, though a lofty goal, wasn't Lutton's only plan for Minot, as he wanted to improve not only base morale, but the efficiency of the mission.

"I wanted to focus on integration across our groups," Lutton said. "Also with our mission partners in the 5th Bomb Wing."

Though it could be looked at as maybe a little biased or subjective, Brig. Gen.. Lutton believes he accomplished those goals handily.

"I think we've done some initial activities to do that, so I'm proud of the Airmen who stepped up," Lutton said. "I think I've gotten them to the point where it will be a successful hand off to the next commander."

A lot of good times can be acquired during a two year period, but Lutton has a few favorites that he will always remember about Minot.

"Just being able to be out in the missile complex with the Airmen," Lutton said. "Whether it's the maintainers, security forces, or operations, it's a lot of good memories being out doing the mission with them."

As advice comes with experience, Brig. Gen. Lutton has his fair share of advice for incoming Airmen.

"I think for anybody coming into the Air Force whether officer or enlisted, we all join for a reason," Lutton said. "Remember what those reasons are and communicate those goals with your leadership so they can help you reach your goals."

ND Quits Smoking Cessation Program Receives Three-to-One Return on Investment

NORTH DAKOTA DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

BISMARCK, N.D. — Professional Data Analysts, Inc. (PDA) recently conducted a return on investment (ROI) analysis for the NDQuits tobacco cessation program. The ROI assesses the cost benefit accrued to the state, but does not adjust for lost revenue caused by quitting, such as loss of tobacco tax revenue and loss of hospital profits. The study found that for every $1 that is spent on the NDQuits program, the state receives a return of approximately $3 in reduced overall state costs including: 1) annual health care costs in ND directly caused by smoking; 2) portion covered by the state Medicaid program; and, 3) smoking-caused productivity losses in ND. These costs totaled $614.6 million.

According to PDA, “Overall, North Dakota’s return exemplifies the efficacy of tobacco cessation funding in reducing overall state health and insurance costs.”

PDA is an independent evaluation and statistical consulting firm specializing in the fields of public health and the behavioral and medical sciences.

Tiny House featured on HGTV to be shown at the North Dakota State Fair

BETH RYAN | NDSF

MINOT, N.D.—A tiny house featured on the HGTV show “Tiny House Big Living” will be shown at the North Dakota State Fair. Jim Nelson, a North Dakota builder, created a unique tiny house that will air on the show on Monday, June 20 at 9:30 p.m. CST.

“I’ve always like miniature things,” said Jim Nelson, the builder who created a 140-square-foot home that can tilt from horizontal to vertical. “I enjoy designing homes that utilize every nook and cranny,” explains Nelson. He’s been building and designing homes for 25 years.

Tiny houses are a new phenomenon quickly becoming popular in home design. “People are into reducing their material possessions and payments monthly and using the savings to enjoy life,” explains Nelson.

“HGTV people were awesome and very fun to work with. Between shoots we sometimes shot hoops or watched Youtube videos.” Nelson enjoyed his time on television, and he is looking forward to showing his homes at the North Dakota State Fair, “We are excited to share our tiny house at the Fair and discuss tiny house living with North Dakota residents.”

Find the tiny house and many other attractions at the North Dakota State Fair, July 22nd – 30th. For more information visit www.ndstatefair.com

“Our Family Caring For Your Family”

PRAIRIE ADVENTURES

BY PATRICIA STOCKDILL

“The proposed (truck) route will go 60 feet from the shelter. It will be a complete taking.”

— Jeff Keller, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Williston.

The whittling away of the public’s access and ownership of public land isn’t just a major problem in the western United States.

It’s hitting home here in North Dakota, where there is even less public land – and certainly none to spare.

In yet another example of the loss of public land and access to public land, the N.D. Department of Transportation (DOT) has construction of a proposed truck reliever route in the Williston area on the fast track.

At first thought, any route to ease traffic issues in the Oil Patch seems like a good idea.

The problem is DOT’s proposed route destroys land owned and managed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. It’s a public day use area and leased for public use by the Badlands Bird Dog Club.

The area is open for public use, not just for club members, explained club member Andy Anderson, Williston.

In addition, the club and others - including funding from North Stat Caviar and Williams County Water Resource Board - have invested more than $500,000 in habitat and recreational improvements on the tract located northeast of Williston on the Little Muddy River.

It is home to a multitude of uses, including fishing, bird dog trials and tests, birding, picnicking, and the MonDak Chapter of Pheasants Forever has hosted several youth events at the facility. Oil companies held safety-training sessions there. “This piece of property is highly educational for the youth in the outdoors,” explained Jeff Keller, corps representative, Williston.

The corps owns and manages the area, which involves nearly 120 acres. The proposed route essentially splits it in half, rendering it useless and unsafe for any public use, Anderson described.

Ironically, the proposed route is in the Little Muddy River’s floodplain. “We are surprised by the route selected as it is in a flood plain area as evident from the years when flood waters covered everything except the picnic shelter,” Anderson added.

The corps has out-grant and recreation management policies for land it manages along the Missouri River System, including the tract under consideration. Under the policy, the State of North Dakota is required to prove there is not alternative route.

DOT claims the route is the only option yet maps indicate three alternatives were designed.

Another option could also entail making improvements to the existing truck route already built. The other proposed routes require taking private land while the one DOT prefers would mean only the loss of public land, right?

Wrong.

If this route were approved, DOT would still be required to mitigate, which one would think would still entail purchasing private land. That doesn’t address the issue of mitigation for habitat improvements.

Acquisition of land for whatever route DOT wants isn’t cheap, regardless of whether they take land for the route itself or mitigation. And mitigation would likely create a tiny island of unappealing public land with little public use value.

The issue begs many questions: Why is public land the first choice? Does the corps have policies to protect public land held in the public’s interest? Why is the project on the fast track given projections of a slow oil industry recovery? Has DOT proven there are no alternatives?

And can North Dakota afford to lose any more of what little public land already available to the public, even if it’s 100 acres or so?

FIND WALDO IN MINOT!

Elusive Book Character Creates Summertime Fun to Support the Shop Local Movement

MAIN STREET BOOKS

Where's Waldo? In Minot of course! The famous children's book character in the striped shirt and black-rimmed specs is visiting twenty-five local businesses throughout our community this July. Find Waldo Local is a great summer vacation activity and a wonderful way to support local businesses and the Shop Local movement in our community, including these partners: Main Street Books, YogifyU, Lulu Lane, Mainstream Boutique, Anderson's DS & Bootery, Art Main, Cookies for You, and more!

Anyone who wishes to participate can pick up a "Find Waldo Local in Minot!" passport, which contains the names of all the participating sites, and get their passport stamped or signed for each Waldo they spot. Collecting store stamps or signatures at twenty or more businesses will entitle diligent seekers entry into a grand-prize drawing on July 31, with the top prize being a six-volume deluxe set of Waldo books. This year, participants can also #ColorWaldoAndWin: when they share a completed coloring sheet of Waldo on Instagram, they'll be entered into a drawing to be one of five lucky winners of a deluxe prize pack.

Waldo is the creation of Martin Handford, whose entertaining drawings of crowd scenes swept the world in the late eighties. Since then, the Where's Waldo? books have held a cherished spot on bookstore shelves the world over. There are now over 65 million Waldo books in print worldwide, and they've been translated into over thirty languages. An entire generation has grown up searching for Waldo and his cast of wandering companions.

In celebration of Waldo's longevity and popularity, his American publisher, Candlewick Press, is once again teaming up with the American Booksellers Association and two hundred and fifty independent bookstores across the country for some hide-and-seek fun to encourage communities to patronize their local businesses. There is no charge to participate, and the hunt lasts for the entire month of July. For more information about hunting for Waldo in Minot, call Main Street Books at 701-839-4050
