X-37B Orbital Test Vehicle-4 lands at Kennedy Space Center

SECRETARY OF THE AIR FORCE PUBLIC AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON (AFNS) -- The X-37B Orbital Test Vehicle mission 4 (OTV-4), the Air Force's unmanned, reusable space plane, landed at NASA's Kennedy Space Center Shuttle Landing Facility May 7, 2017.

"Today marks an incredibly exciting day for the 45th Space Wing as we continue to break barriers," said Brig. Gen. Wayne Monteith, the 45th SW commander. "Our team has been preparing for this event for several years, and I am extremely proud to see our hard work and dedication culminate in today's safe and successful landing of the X-37B."

The OTV-4 conducted on-orbit experiments for 718 days during its mission, extending the total number of days spent on-orbit for the OTV program to 2,085 days.

"The landing of OTV-4 marks another success for the X-37B program and the nation," said Lt. Col. Ron Fehlen, X-37B program manager. "This mission once again set an on-orbit endurance record and marks the vehicle's first landing in the state of Florida. We are incredibly pleased with the performance of the space vehicle and are excited about the data gathered to support the scientific and space communities. We are extremely proud of the dedication and hard work by the entire team."

The X-37B is the newest and most advanced re-entry spacecraft. Managed by the Air Force Rapid Capabilities Office, the X-37B program performs risk reduction, experimentation and concept of operations development for reusable space vehicle technologies.

"The hard work of the X-37B OTV team and the 45th Space Wing successfully demonstrated the flexibility and resolve necessary to continue the nation's advancement in space," said Randy Walden, the director of the Air Force Rapid Capabilities Office. "The ability to land, refurbish, and launch from the same location further enhances the OTV's ability to rapidly integrate and qualify new space technologies."

The Air Force is preparing to launch the fifth X-37B mission from Cape Canaveral Air Force Station, Florida, later in 2017.

Cyber Squadron Initiative: Arming Airmen for 21st century battle

STAFF SGT. JANNELLE MCRAE | SECRETARY OF THE AIR FORCE PUBLIC AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON (AFNS) -- The Air Force cyber landscape of today is not the same as 10 or even five years ago; every Air Force core mission is impacted and connected by cyber. In response, the service has created the Cyber Squadron Initiative.

The initiative trains small teams from existing manpower that focus on defensive cyber operations of Air Force weapons systems.

In order to meet the increasing cyberspace-related threats and demands, the Air Force is shifting its focus from operating and maintaining traditional information technology services to stronger offensive and defensive cyber capabilities that support core missions.

"Air Force core missions are cyber dependent, and the complexities and threats in this environment have grown exponentially," said Lt. Gen. William J. Bender, the Air Force chief information dominance officer and chief information officer. "We are leaning forward to tailor the cyber force by leveraging industry partners and the joint information environment to perform basic IT services, thereby enabling Airmen to move away from a unitary focus on IT service delivery toward a holistic cyberspace approach that includes active mission defense and mission assurance."

The Cyber Squadron Initiative enhances the capabilities of cyber Airmen to defend, assure and optimize unit missions in, through and from cyberspace.

Currently, 15 initial cyber squadrons - called pathfinder units - have been organized, trained and equipped to deploy cutting-edge applications to provide mission assurance to their wing's critical missions. They are being joined by 30 new pathfinder units that were recently announced and have already begun training while identifying their key terrain in cyberspace.

Ultimately, pathfinder Airmen will present commanders with a more complete understanding of the risks military operations face in cyberspace. Pathfinders identify a wing's specific mission threats in order to determine cyber implications, Lt. Col. Billy Pope, from the Air Force Chief Information Office

Trump presents CINC Trophy to USAFA

STAFF SGT. JANNELLE MCRAE | SECRETARY OF THE AIR FORCE PUBLIC AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON (AFNS) -- The U.S. Air Force Academy football team received the Commander in Chief's Trophy from President Donald Trump during a visit to the White House May 2, 2017.

The trophy is awarded to the winner of the annual service academies' football triangular series between the U.S. Military Academy, U.S. Naval Academy, and U.S. Air Force Academy.

The three-sided, 170 pound, two-and-a-half-foot tall trophy was first awarded by President Richard Nixon in 1972.

The Air Force Falcons claimed the award for a record-setting 20th time, following a 31-12 victory against the Army Black Knights in November 2016.

"It is a great privilege for me for the first time to present you the Commander in Chief's Trophy," said President Donald Trump. "As the United States Air Force celebrates its 70th birthday this year, this trophy will serve as a point of pride when the Academy's cadets graduate and (for) all of the members past and present of the United States Air Force."

During the ceremony, team captains Jacobi Owens and Weston Steelhammer presented the president with his own Falcons jersey and helmet.

"I am honored I was a part of the team that could win the trophy for the 20th time," Owens said.

Their accomplishments on the field are not the only highlight for the cadets this spring.

"We are so proud that in only three weeks, under (the president's) command they will become commissioned 2nd lieutenants in our United States Air Force," said

Calhoun. "What they will bring is courage, integrity and boldness."

The Air Force Academy graduates approximately 800 – 1,000 cadets each year.

"Whenever an Air Force crew flies you'll always find a powerful symbol of American strength and American prestige," Trump said. "I know that each and every one of you will continue to make your country proud."

Total force development services now in a single-point center

SECRETARY OF THE AIR FORCE PUBLIC AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON (AFNS) -- The Air Force has consolidated all total force development services and resources to a single-point center. All Airmen (active duty, Reserve, Guard and civilian) will now be able to fully utilize all force development resources through the virtual force development center.

The online center acts as a single-point depot that links Airmen to numerous professional force development resources. It is a comprehensive portal for self-paced training, education and other force development tools.

"All these resources are designed to professionally develop Airmen in their self-development journey," said Barry Waite, the chief of Air Force Workforce Development Division at the U.S. Air Force Personnel Professional Development School. "The virtual center has the tools to shrink proficiency gaps and maximizes our total force's skills."

The virtual force development center provides access to professional resources generated from both the Air Force and the private sector which are easily transferable to the workplace. The virtual center connects members to information on foundational learning, professional education, Air Force e-Learning and other resources to include seeking a mentor.

"Developmental opportunities to broaden and strengthen an individual's foundation are essential for the future of our workforce," Waite added.

The virtual center, through AF e-Learning, also offers hundreds of no-cost self-paced courses, books, audiobooks, videos, simulations, challenges, summaries, case studies, exercises, learning tracks, and live events to support Airmen's continual development.

"The fundamental goal of force development is to provide Air Force members the skills, knowledge and abilities to excel in their organizations. I encourage all of us across the total force to check out the virtual center. Challenge yourself and learn something new every day," said Russell Frasz, the director of Force Development at Headquarters Air Force.

The virtual force development center is located on the Air Force portal site under the career and training tab.

Cyberspace Strategy Branch and leader of the program, explained.

The initiative will mitigate risk to the wing's portion of the Air Force's core missions: air and space superiority; intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance; rapid global mobility; global strike; and command and control.

As these pathfinder units activate, all Airmen will see more integration of mission defense teams throughout the mission planning phases all the way to execution.

"Our adversaries understand that cyberspace offers a potential asymmetric advantage," Pope said. "We must develop capabilities, culture, and organizational structures to safeguard our Air Force core missions against cyber threats."

An updated program action directive and Air Force policy are scheduled to be implemented this year, with funding for new training in cyber school houses for officer, civilian and enlisted in fiscal year 2018. Implementation of all changes is expected by 2026.

Get a Jump-Start on Your North Dakota Summer Vacation Planning this May

NORTH DAKOTA LEGENDARY

BISMARCK, N.D. – May brings warmer temperatures, longer days and the excitement of long weekends spent across North Dakota. Ample hiking, biking and kayaking pursuits exist for the outdoor adventurers. History buffs can lose track of time at significant landmarks and museums around the state. North Dakota's cities welcome visitors to explore their unique shops and galleries and to eat in their restaurants. So, get busy planning your North Dakotan summer adventure.

Use these resources from North Dakota Tourism as you plan:

- NDtourism.com – Your one-stop shop for all types of North Dakota trips.

- 2017 Travel Guide – Travelers can also request a hard copy

- 2017 Hunting & Fishing Guide – Remember, fishing is always in season in North Dakota

- Interactive ND Map – Find accommodations, attractions, visitor services and more

- Facebook and Twitter – Daily ideas and travel tips let visitors interact with ND Tourism

- For Outdoor Lovers – For ages, the splendor of North Dakota's Theodore Roosevelt National Park (<https://www.nps.gov/thro/planyourvisit/index.htm>) has captivated visitors.

Spend a day traversing one of the parks many trails for exceptional vantage points of the mystifying Badlands. Follow the paved scenic drives in the north or south units of the park for views of prairie dogs, bison and wild horses. Don't miss beloved attractions near the park like the Bully Pulpit Golf Course (<https://medora.com/Do/Outdoor/bully-pulpit-golf-course/>), the Maah Daah Hey Trail (<http://mdhta.com/>) and the Medora Musical (<http://medora.com/do/entertainment/medora-musical/>).

- Many fishing, camping and boating adventures are easily accessible via North Dakota's state parks (<http://www.parkrec.nd.gov/>). Visitors can experience both natural and historical aspects of life on the prairie at parks near Lake Sakakawea, Pembina Gorge, the Missouri River or Devils Lake. Try sleeping in a teepee or a yurt for a unique night under the stars. Check park listings for fun, family-friendly and educational events occurring throughout the summer.

- Plan a golfing getaway (<http://www.ndtourism.com/listings/golfing>) at one of the state's 120 courses available. North Dakota's uniquely rugged landscape and lovely summer weather provide an ideal backdrop to a day on the golf course with family and friends.

- Rent a canoe or kayak (<http://www.ndtourism.com/listings/canoeing-kayaking>) and explore the peaceful, nature-rich waterways of North Dakota.

- For Food Lovers – North Dakota is abuzz with new eating establishments. Minot's The Starving Rooster (<http://thestarvingrooster.com/>) just opened another location in Bismarck to serve its renowned wood-fired pizzas, paninis and cocktails. Downtown Fargo recently welcomed Twist (<https://www.twistfargo.com/>) and the vegetarian Greenhouse Café (<https://www.facebook.com/GreenHouseCafeFargo/>) to Broadway Avenue.

- Taylor Made BBQ (<https://www.facebook.com/taylormadebbq1/>) recently opened its doors on Mandan's Main Street and serves patrons Texas-style barbecue utilizing North Dakota meats. Long-time favorites continue to thrive and offer travelers unique experiences. Bismarck's Peacock Alley (<http://peacock-alley.com/>) was established at the end of Prohibition in 1933 and today serves nationally acclaimed plates in the original dining room and bar. The 100-year-old Hotel Donaldson (<http://www.hoteldonaldson.com/>) in Fargo reopened as a restaurant and hotel in 2003 and has been serving diners exceptional cuisine ever since. Travel across the state and stop in at local cafes to rub elbows with the locals and learn firsthand about North Dakota's best-kept travel secrets.

- What's summer without a fair? The North Dakota State Fair (<https://ndstatefair.com/>) is a food lover's paradise with its turkey legs, cheese curds, fry-bread tacos and mini donuts. Enjoy these American classics while listening to live music, enjoying rides and visiting the exhibits.

- North Dakota is an agricultural state and food festivals are a fantastic way to celebrate summer's bounty. Taste local flavors, enjoy the summer weather and meet the locals at county fairs (<http://ndfairs.org/events/calendar/>).

- For History and Culture Lovers

- North Dakota has a vastly rich heritage available to travelers without much effort. The State Historical Society (<http://history.nd.gov/historicsites/index.html>) preserves and manages 57 historic sites where visitors can learn about North Dakota's earliest peoples and significant events that shaped modern society. The North Dakota Heritage Center (<https://statemuseum.nd.gov/>), the Lewis & Clark Interpretive Center and Fort Abraham Lincoln State Park (<http://www.parkrec.nd.gov/parks/falsp/falsp.html>) offer visitors hands-on opportunities to learn more about North Dakota's past.

- There is a vibrant and ever-growing cultural scene in the state. The fabulous Medora Musical is North Dakota's most famous show, and there are many other must-see productions. See a local theater production or go to an outdoor music concert this summer. Sleepy Hollow Theatre and Arts Park (<http://www.shst.org/>) in Bismarck and Frost Fire Summer Theatre near Pembina River Gorge (<http://www.frostfiretheatre.com/>) at Walhalla put on shows throughout the summer months. North Dakota's art museums and galleries are also a great source for cultural enrichment.

These are just a few suggestions to help plan your summer vacation to North Dakota. For more information, go to NDtourism.com or phone 701-328-2525 or 800-435-5663

PRAIRIE ADVENTURES

BY PATRICIA STOCKDILL

"You've all heard of bird walks and birding trails. But this is pothole country in North Dakota, where the refuges and prairies are so expansive the birding resources call for drives rather than walks."

– Birding Drives Dakota website, (www.birdingdrives.com).

The fine art of birding encompasses many levels from folks who simply enjoy feeding and watching their backyard feathered friends to those traversing across the world in search of a "lifer", a treasured avian species they want to observe personally.

A "lifer" could be an exotic species in an exotic country. Or it could be an elusive grasslands sparrow, which draws many birders to North Dakota in search of Sprague's pipit or Baird's sparrow, for example.

North Dakota's large U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service National Wildlife Refuges (NWR) offer nature trails for birders and anyone wanting to soak up the Great Outdoors. Oftentimes, they have bird checklists so it's worth a stop at refuge headquarters to see what information is available.

A person can bird in a state park, a refuge, or a N. D. Game and Fish Department Wildlife Management Area, for example. Really, a person could bird just about anywhere.

For many serious birders, city lagoons are treasured for the amount of wetland birds and waterfowl they attract.

Seriously, city lagoons. The fine folks in southeast North Dakota took birding to a different level several years ago by enlisting biologists and ornithologists to design six drives allowing birders of all levels to experience the state's potholes and prairie.

Birding Drives Dakota offers maps and a booklet so folks can take the self-guided tours at their leisure.

The six routes go from Carrington to Chase Lake NWR, Carrington to Arrowwood NWR, Jamestown to Chase Lake, Jamestown to Arrowwood, the Lake Juanita area, and the Jamestown area.

Birding Drives Dakota didn't stop there, creating the Potholes & Prairie Birding Festival in 2003.

Headquartered in Carrington, the 2017 festival is slated for June 14 – 18 at the Chieftain Conference Center. It features guided birding tours of the Drift Prairie Region, Chase Lake NWR, Horsehead Lake and Kidder County, and Sully's Hill NWR near Devils Lake.

Several seminars are on tap, as well, and birders have time to – you guessed it – bird on their own.

Go to Birding Drives Dakota website, (www.birdingdrives.com) for more information on the six birding drives and the Potholes & Prairie Birding Festival.

Just be sure to register early for the festival.

While bird walks and birding trails are do-able at one's own speed and on one's own time, the Theodore Roosevelt Nature and History Association (TRNHA) has led a bird walk long before bird walks became trendy.

June 4 marks the 63rd annual TRNHA Bird Walk at Theodore National Park South Unit in Medora. Archives show folks trekked the bird walk every year since its inception regardless of weather.

Participants gather at 6:30 a.m. MDT at the park's Cottonwood Campground. Call (701) 623-4884 or email info@trnha.org for more information.

The bottom line is birding opportunities abound in North Dakota at all levels for all ages and all abilities. Like any activity, it can be taken to any level a participant desires.

We have opportunities in our backyard – literally – and experts can help us reach higher through things like Birding Drives Dakota, the festival, and guided bird walks.

It's up to us to get out and enjoy it. What we take for granted is a lifer for other people.

Jalapeno Popper Macaroni Salad

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 lb dried elbow macaroni pasta
- 1 cup canned jalapeños, chopped (I prefer the mild version (can substitute with fresh chopped jalapeños as well))
- 1 cup cheddar cheese, cubed small (or shredded) (monterey jack or Colby jack are good as well)
- 8 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise (I like to use the canola oil mayo for a less calorie dressing)
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 2 Tbsp cream cheese, room temperature
- 2 Tbsp lemon juice fresh is best
- 3/4 tsp salt
- 1/2 tsp garlic powder
- generous pinch of black pepper
- fresh parsley, minced for garnish (optional)

INSTRUCTIONS:

Bring large pot of water to a boil, add generous pinch of salt and boil pasta per package directions. Drain, and rinse pasta with cold water until cooled. To a small mixing bowl, add mayo, sour cream, cream cheese, lemon juice, salt, garlic powder and black pepper and whisk until smooth and creamy. To a large mixing or serving bowl, add cooked and cooled pasta, jalapeños, cheese, and most of the bacon. Pour dressing over pasta and toss to combine. Sprinkle with remaining bacon, cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate for at least 30 minutes to allow flavors to fully combine. Serve cold. If desired, add a bit of melted butter to some panko breadcrumbs and cook in a dry skillet over LOW heat until fragrant and toasty. Before serving pasta salad, sprinkle the toasted breadcrumbs over the top.

2017 North Dakota Governor's Photo Contest kicks off

NORTH DAKOTA TOURISM

BISMARCK, N.D. - Gov. Doug Burgum and the North Dakota Tourism Division, in partnership with AAA of North Dakota and North Dakota Council on the Arts, are kicking off the 2017 Governor's Photo Contest. All North Dakota photographers are encouraged to submit photos that capture the unique things to see and do in the state. Deadline for entry is August 31, 2017.

Photographers can submit photos to one or more of the following categories: Adventure and Recreation, Scenery, Communities and Events, Fun with Family and Friends, Places to Visit and Wildlife. One winner will be selected in each contest category and a $200 cash prize will be awarded to the photographer of each selected photo. Additional honorable mentions may be selected in each category, with photographers receiving $50 and North Dakota Legendary merchandise. A Best of Show photo will be selected from the winning photographs and the photographer will receive an additional $300 cash prize and a free, one-year basic membership to AAA.

In addition to the prize money:

Winning photographs will be published in North Dakota Tourism's 2018 promotional materials and on the website.

Winning photographs will be eligible for display in AAA North Dakota branch offices and may be printed in AAA regional publications.

Winners also will be published in North Dakota Tourism's newsletter and likely in future promotional publications and marketing efforts.

Winning photographs will be featured in a public display at the North Dakota Capitol building during the fourth quarter of 2017, through a partnership with the North Dakota Council on the Arts.

Launched in 2004, the annual Governor's Photo contest has grown significantly since its beginnings. In its first year, the contest attracted more than 300 submissions. Approximately 10,900 photos have been submitted in the years since.

Contest Rules:

All photos must be submitted electronically via Flickr or postmarked by the contest deadline, August 31, 2017.

Only North Dakota residents are eligible to enter. There is no limit to the number of entries allowed per photographer. Excessive cropping, digital alterations or enhancements are discouraged.

Photographers will be judged on their ability to showcase North Dakota as a Legendary travel destination in the following categories: Adventure and Recreation, Scenery, Communities and Events, Fun with Family and Friends, Places to Visit and Wildlife. On originality, interest of the subject matter, visual appearance and consistency with the category theme. Photo entries should be taken within the last three years and must be in full color.

Photographers must have the consent of those whose faces are visible, or the consent of guardians for minors, in the image.

By entering the contest, photographers agree that if their photo is selected, they agree to authorize North Dakota Tourism, AAA and their official marketing partners to use that image in promotional materials offline and online. Photos will be credited whenever possible.

Winning photographers agree to unlimited usage by North Dakota Tourism for promotional materials and websites. Photos will not be sold.

Photo Submission:

To enter the contest by mail, photographs must be submitted on a CD with a 5x7 or 8x10 print copy. Prints need not be mounted or framed. The back of the photo and CD must be labeled with the entrant's name, address, telephone number, email address, contest category, title of photo, location and date the photo was taken.

Entries should be mailed to North Dakota Department of Commerce Tourism Division, Attention Cassie Theurer, at P.O. Box 2057, Bismarck, ND 58502-2057. AAA branch offices in Fargo and Bismarck will also accept entries.

Entered photos must be family-friendly. Inappropriate photos will be removed from the group.

Information about the photo must include title of the photo, location in state where the photo was taken, date photo was taken, the contest category and name and town of photographer.

Complete contest rules can be found on the Tourism Division Web site at NDtourism.com. For more information, contact the Tourism Division at 701-328-2525 or 800-435-5663.

First group of enlisted Airmen complete RPA training program

RANDY MARTIN | 12TH FLYING TRAINING WING

JOINT BASE SAN ANTONIO-RANDOLPH, Texas (AFNS) -- The first three NCOs have completed the Air Force's undergraduate remotely piloted aircraft training program here May 5, 2017, and one was a distinguished graduate.

Master Sgt. Mike was in the top 10 percent of his 20 classmates academically and shared top honors. He is one of 12 enlisted candidates that were selected from the Air Force after Dec. 17, 2015, for a bold initiative called the enlisted pilot initial class. In EPIC, enlisted Airmen were included with commissioned officers during RPA pilot training.

In its 70 years as a separate service, the Air Force has relied almost exclusively on commissioned officers for its pilots.

Last November, as part of their initial flight training (IFT) near Pueblo Memorial Airport, Colorado, each student soloed a DA-20 Katana aircraft just like all other pilots, fellow RPA pilots, and combat systems officers.

Mike was the first EPIC student to solo at IFT and he was confident that fellow enlisted Airmen can succeed at IFT and URT.

"If there is something you really want, it's achievable. You just have to put in the effort," Mike said.

Mike and his classmates continued URT on Jan. 6, 2017, at Joint Base San Antonio-Randolph for the second and third phases of the pipeline that produces all Air Force RPA pilots. Phases 2 and 3 of URT lasted about four months and consisted of RPA instrument qualification and RPA fundamentals training.

"What makes this accomplishment even more extraordinary is the quality of the students who make up this URT class 17-10," said Lt. Col. Jason Thompson, the 558th Flying Training Squadron commander, who is responsible for training pilots and sensor operators at JB San Antonio-Randolph.

Almost 90 percent of URT 17-10's students are recent college graduates and one is the Air Force's first RPA pilot physician, Maj. Joe. Second Lt. Brianna, Mike's fellow distinguished graduate, is one of the best pilots to have completed URT in recent memory, Thompson said.

After URT, Mike and his fellow enlisted pilots Master Sgt. Alex and Tech. Sgt. Mike, advance to formal training at Beale Air Force Base, California, for a basic qualification course where pilots qualify on the RQ-4 Global Hawk. The Global Hawk is a long-duration intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance weapon system that supports missions worldwide.

The Air Force Personnel Center continues to plan and fill the RPA pilot training pipeline with enlisted Airmen and commissioned officers.

"There are a lot of opportunities that could become available to enlisted Airmen," Mike said.

(Editor's note: Only first names were given because the Air Force limits disclosure of identifying information to first names for all RPA pilots and sensor operators throughout their careers.)

Tech. Sgt. Mike, Master Sgt. Alex and Master Sgt. Mike stand next to a T-6A Texan II parked on the flightline at Joint Base San Antonio-Randolph, Texas, May 4, 2017. They completed undergraduate remotely piloted aircraft training May 5 and are the first Air Force enlisted Airmen to train as pilots since World War II. Master Sgt. Mike was a distinguished graduate in the URT class of 20 including 17 commissioned officers.

Heather Wilson was confirmed as the new Secretary of the Air Force by the Senate May 8, 2017.

Senate Confirms Wilson as Air Force Secretary

SECRETARY OF THE AIR FORCE PUBLIC AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON (AFNS) -- Heather Wilson will be the next secretary of the Air Force, following her confirmation by the Senate May 8, 2017.

Wilson, who is stepping down from her position as the president of the South Dakota School of Mines & Technology to take the post, is expected to be sworn in within a week.

"We live in a remarkable country, protected by innovators and intrepid Airmen who take great risks on our behalf," said Wilson. "I look forward to getting to work, focusing on readiness, modernization, development of leaders and research for the future."

Wilson graduated from the U.S. Air Force Academy in the third class to include women. After graduating from USAFA in 1982, she earned masters and doctoral degrees as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University in England. She served as an Air Force officer in Europe during the Cold War and on the National Security Council Staff under President George H.W. Bush during the fall of the Berlin Wall, and the collapse of the Warsaw Pact. She has also worked as an advisor to several large defense and scientific organizations both before and after serving for a decade in the U.S. Congress.

The daughter and granddaughter of aviators, Wilson is an instrument rated private pilot.

Wilson becomes the second confirmed appointee in the Defense Department and will be responsible for organizing, training and equipping the U.S. Air Force of 660,000 Active-duty, Guard, Reserve and civilian Airmen, as well as managing its $132 billion budget.

Wilson replaces Lisa Disbrow, who has been Acting Secretary of the Air Force since Jan. 20, 2017.

North Dakota Urges HIV Testing Amid Increase in Reported Infections

NORTH DAKOTA DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

BISMARCK, N.D. — State health officials are advising high-risk audiences of the importance of HIV testing, along with information about preventative and treatment methods, given a recent spike in the number of HIV infections in North Dakota.

The public health alert comes in response to a recent and rapid increase in the number of HIV infections, specifically among an at-risk population of male same-sex partners who have anonymous, unprotected sex. Traditionally, the North Dakota Department of Health (NDDoH) interviews all individuals who test positive for HIV in order to identify any at-risk partners who also need testing. The growth of social media has also resulted in an increase of individuals meeting same-sex partners anonymously. This anonymity is a concern for NDDoH officials because patients are often unable to identify or contact these partners for follow-up.

Twenty-eight men whose primary risk factor for HIV infection is sex with male partners have been reported to have HIV in North Dakota since the beginning of 2016. Prior to 2016, North Dakota reported an average of eight new HIV cases of this type each year. Ten new HIV cases of this type have already occurred in 2017. Some of the cases are believed to be recent infections, within the last 12 months.

“We believe that this group may be at increased risk for HIV,” said Lindsey VanderBusch, NDDoH HIV, STD, TB and Viral Hepatitis Program Manager. “The increase in reports is concerning, so we strongly encourage all who don’t know their status to get tested.”

It is recommended that all people with risk factors be screened for HIV and other STDs at least annually, and every three to six months if engaged in unprotected sex, or sex with multiple partners. People diagnosed with a sexually transmitted infection should have an HIV test with every new infection. Other risk factors for HIV infection include any person having unprotected sex (risk is increased with multiple sex partners) and injecting drugs.

Acute HIV infection can present with symptoms. Symptoms may include fever, swollen glands, sore throat, rash, muscle and joint aches, and pains and headache. Symptoms usually present within 2-4 weeks from the time a person is exposed to the virus. All individuals at high risk for HIV infection should contact a health care provider about getting tested as soon as possible. If there is concern about the cost of testing, there are clinics that offer free or low-cost testing through the NDDoH’s HIV Testing Program. Visit gettested.cdc.gov for clinic locations.

“The first step to taking care of your health is knowing your status. There are many resources for people who test positive for HIV to be able to manage their infection going forward,” VanderBusch said. “Also, for those who are negative and at high-risk, HIV preventive therapy known as PrEP would be an excellent option to prevent infection in the future.”

HIV Pre-Exposure Prophylaxis (PrEP) is a preventative medication, and if taken as directed, it can reduce the risk of HIV infection by more than 90 percent. PrEP is a safe and powerful tool that can be combined with condoms and other preventative methods to provide even greater protection than when used alone.

Please refer to the following websites for additional information: gettested.cdc.gov for HIV testing locations; preplocator.org for locations that supply PrEP; and www.ndhealth.gov/hiv or www.cdc.gov/hiv/ for more information about HIV.
