Senior Air Force civilians presented Presidential Rank Awards

SECRETARY OF THE AIR FORCE PUBLIC AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON (AFNS) -- Secretary of the Air Force Heather Wilson recognized the career achievements of 12 senior civilians during the 2016 Presidential Rank Awards Ceremony at the Pentagon July 14, 2017.

"It is my pleasure to be here for these awards and to recognize the top one percent of Air Force civil servants," Wilson said. "We are deeply grateful for you and we are very proud of your accomplishments."

The awards feature two categories: distinguished and meritorious. Nominations are evaluated by boards of private citizens and approved by the president. Only 5 percent, who make up approximately .03 percent of the total civilian federal workforce of Senior Executive Service employees may receive the Presidential Meritorious Rank Award. Only 1 percent can receive the Presidential Distinguished Rank Award.

Distinguished rank recipients receive a lump-sum payment of 35 percent of their basic pay, while meritorious rank recipients receive 20 percent of basic pay. All receive a framed certificate signed by the president.

Air Force opens doors to universities, small businesses and entrepreneurs to boost innovation

SECRETARY OF THE AIR FORCE PUBLIC AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON (AFNS) -- Air Force Secretary Heather Wilson announced the launch of AFwerX July 21, 2017, during her visit to Nellis Air Force Base, Nevada. Based on a model used by Special Operations Command, AFwerX opens Air Force doors to highly innovative problem solvers with small amounts of money in ways that strip out bureaucracy. The first AFwerX location will be near the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, so students and faculty, small businesses and entrepreneurs can connect easily to the Air Force. The storefront is slated to open by early 2018 with "open to the public" hours for individuals and groups to present ideas. "We're changing the way we do business with innovators," Wilson said. "Bringing an AFwerX storefront to Vegas allows us to take advantage of Nevada's emerging idea marketplace." This site is intended to engage the next generation of innovators and entrepreneurs to help the Air Force increase lethality at a lower cost, Wilson said. "We have to move faster and be smarter," she added. "We know there are people out there with answers to problems, with ideas and innovations, and we are going to look at what they have and help them help us."

AF announces Enlisted Professional Military Education redesign

SENIOR MASTER SGT. KATHERINE GRABHAM | OFFICE OF THE CHIEF MASTER SGT. OF THE AIR FORCE

WASHINGTON (AFNS) -- Air Force officials announced major changes to the enlisted professional military education program today via an initiative called Enlisted Professional Military Education for the 21st Century, or "EPME 21."

A major initiative of EPME 21 is that time in service will no longer dictate an Airman's EPME enrollment -- Airmen will only be required to complete distance learning courses as a prerequisite to their resident attendance. This initiative is now in effect.

Also, the Air Force will transition to 100 percent resident EPME, allowing all active duty, Guard and reserve Airmen an opportunity to attend Airman Leadership School, the NCO and senior NCO academies prior to promotion.

The changes are a result of the 2017 EPME triennial review, said Chief Master Sgt. JoAnne Bass, the Chief of Air Force Enlisted Developmental Education at the Pentagon.

"The committee determined changes were needed to the existing EPME structure in order to align EPME with the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff's policy requiring rank-based educational opportunities," Bass said. "This also enables all Airmen an opportunity to attend resident PME in order to truly leverage the educational experiences gained from instructors and peers."

One of Chief Master Sgt. of the Air Force Kaleth O. Wright's three priorities is leadership -- developing Airmen who are ready to lead. One of his objectives in this is to cement EPME changes and infuse agility into Air University processes to improve the ability to provide timely, updated content delivery.

"If this sounds familiar, it should. It was the staple of our EPME for almost 43 years before a recent change to a time in service model," Wright said. "While this model was effective for some, we quickly found it didn't meet the needs of all our Airmen, causing many NCOs to lose the opportunity to attend in residence at all."

Rather than requiring Airmen to complete EPME at set times based on how long they've been in the Air Force, the new model transitions to a rank-based continuum of learning.

Removing the TIS determination "just makes sense," Wright said. "We must ensure timely, focused and operationally relevant training and educational solutions at all levels. Providing Airmen with the appropriate PME at the right times in their career is a must. If we deliver it too soon, it's not effective for where they are in their careers. If we deliver it too late, it's not effective at all."

Wright notes that the model provides Airmen greater flexibility and time, allowing them to focus their energies on the mission.

"Commanders, superintendents, first sergeants and supervisors remain central to inspiring a culture of innovation, agility and excellence, while promoting a continuum of learning that spans an Airman's career," he said.

Airmen will not be notified from the Air Force Personnel Center or Air University on when to enroll themselves into distance learning, but must manually enroll themselves.

"This new EPME structure allows Airmen to decide the best timeframe to complete their distance learning," Bass said. "They will have to complete the distance learning prior to being scheduled for the resident portion, but each Airman now has more flexibility as to when the right time is for them."

Bass explained that distance learning provides students with basic competency development and the resident courses allow students to apply what they learned.

"It is necessary to complete both the distance learning and the resident courses to achieve development of the required competencies at the appropriate proficiency levels," she said. "We expect staff and master sergeants to complete their respective distance learning so when they become technical and senior master sergeants, they are immediately eligible for resident attendance."

Resident EPME is a promotion requirement -- Airman Leadership School, NCO Academy, SNCO Academy and the Chief Leadership Course are required for promotion to E-5, E-7 and E-9, respectively.

Airmen who have previously completed NCO or SNCO distance learning courses under the previous policy and have not attended resident EPME, will still receive EPME credit and will not be required to attend the resident portion. Additionally, those currently enrolled in NCO or SNCO distance learning courses may still complete the course and receive credit upon completion.

This year's show will feature the following classes: Car (1976 and newer), Car (1975 and older), Truck (1976 and newer), Truck (1975 and older), Imports (no specific year/model), and Motorcycle. Each class will be judged by the public with the top vehicle in each class receiving the "People's Choice" award for their respective division. In addition, a special "Kid's Choice" award will be given to the top vehicle overall as determined by the votes of the children age 12 and under attending the show. Two special awards, the Warbird's Choice and the Rough Rider's Choice, will be presented to the 5th Bomb Wing and the 91st Missile Wing judge's favorite entry.

Creative Night Out bring diverse Creative Talents for First Thursday Events

WENDY KIMBLE

Creative Night Out brings the diverse talents of the community to downtown Minot, running on the first Thursday of each month through September. Each month will feature three creative types whether its music, poetry, dance, storytelling or visual arts this event has something for everyone. The events will start at 5:30 where locals will stop in at our creative participating retail "hot spots" where you will enjoy music, snacks, sale specials, artist demonstrations, and more.

Or, they may withdraw with no adverse actions and reenroll at a later date, prior to attending resident EPME.

"This change clearly sends a signal that our senior leaders value deliberately developing our enlisted corps," said Lt. Gen. Gina Grosso, the Air Force Deputy Chief of Staff for Manpower, Personnel and Services. "This is a positive move in the right direction, as we continue to develop the force and support our Airmen."

Additionally, EPME 21 will institute a new requirement called Professional Development Unit that will capture diverse education, training and life experiences. This will allow the AF to capture those experiences. Each Airman will complete 24 PDUs per year with one PDU equaling approximately one hour of learning, which equates to three days of development in the span of a year.

Many activities that enlisted Airmen already do will count towards the 24 PDUs. Professional Enhancement Seminars, Senior Enlisted Joint PME, college classes and even earning professional certifications accumulate points. Many Airmen have already attended programs like Profession of Arms Center of Excellence or other major command courses. Additionally, Airmen actively plan and participate in Air Force, Joint and coalition exercises, gaining experience in warfighting activities ranging from aircraft generation, command and control and force protection. And finally, Airmen deploy and lead both small and large teams across our Combatant Command Areas of Responsibility. These all count.

August brings Crazy Dayz Salez going on through out the day at participating retail shops. Hot Spots for August are: Artspace Suite 1 Gallery with their featured Visual Artist Carol Fielhaber, Blue Rider, Budget Music & Video, Gourmet Chef, Main Street Books, Mainstream Boutique, Margie's Art Glass, Off the Vine, Oliver's Attic, Seasons Floral, Taube Museum of Art, Urban Winery, 3 Little Pigs Food Truck, Artist Booths and Street Musicians!

• Our August 3rd Creative Night Out events

5:30-6:30 will feature Visual Artists Diane Kessler and Erica Jespersen! This mother and daughter team will open their studio that is located at 7A East Central Ave #201 for a tour and talk. "I have been creating decorative wall finishes for 25+ years. In addition to walls, I also do countertop refinishing, custom floral arrangements and wedding bouquets. I repurpose antiques and give them new life" Diane. Erica is a student at MSU majoring in art. She creates custom wall art and helps her mom with her faux decorative painting business, creating wall finishes for clients. • Hoopspiration AKA Jamie Zammert is our 7:00-7:50 feature will be hosted outside 62 Doors Gallery & Studio. Jamie started hooping for health around 2008. It quickly became a passion and grew to encompass many other flow arts props and fire. She now teaches hoop dance, makes and sells custom dance hoops, performs at events, runs a free community group, and a free community fire group that became a fantastic troupe we now call "Full Moon Fire Club" she is also a mother of 2 handsome little dudes.

• Our 8:00 Music feature will be the sounds of Pagan Holidays hosted at Otis & James. The Pagan Holidays is a musical project that consists of members of the band Marigold and the posthumous Crooked Gospel. They are the cockroaches of the Minot music scene. Infesting it for two decades. Otis & James will open the doors to their new location at 115 1st Ave NE.
