Secretary of the Air Force Heather Wilson emphasized the importance of the U.S. maintaining its dominance in space during a speech April 9, 2019, at the 35th Space Symposium in Colorado Springs, Colo. "America is the best in the world at space, and our adversaries know it," she said.

Shanahan, Wilson, Goldfein offer views for ensuring U.S. superiority in space

CHARLES POPE | SECRETARY OF THE AIR FORCE PUBLIC AFFAIRS

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AFNS) -- The top echelon of the United States' civilian and military leadership offered unflinching assurances April 9, that America's superiority in space will endure even as competition – and the stakes – for primacy intensify.

In remarks to more than 1,500 government, military, industry and international leaders at the 35th Space Symposium, Acting Defense Secretary Patrick Shanahan set a tone on at least one dominant point that was followed in quick succession in speeches by Secretary of the Air Force Heather Wilson and Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. David L. Goldfein.

"The threat is clear," Shanahan said. "We're in an era of great power competition, and the next major conflict may be won or lost in space."

Because of actions by Russia, China and other nations, "space is no longer a sanctuary – it is now a warfighting domain," Shanahan said. "This is not a future or theoretical threat; this is today's threat. We are not going to sit back and watch – we are going to act."

Wilson and Goldfein echoed and amplified those themes while also offering details for how the Air Force is meeting the new dynamic in space.

"America is the best in the world at space, and our adversaries know it," Wilson said. Rather than becoming complacent, Wilson said the Air Force's comprehensive approach is grounded in "a clear-eyed assessment of the world as it is."

Wilson also highlighted how the Air Force is driving the change to field tomorrow's capabilities faster and smarter by using authorities given to the service by Congress. That includes flattening the Space and Missile System Center organization and using the "speed as demonstrated" approach as employed by the Space Enterprise Consortium. For Wilson that "clear eyed" assessment also extended to the upcoming debate in Congress and within the administration that will produce the critical details on the Space Force, a new 6th branch of the military.

"Different missions will require different solutions. One size does not fit all," she said.

She and Goldfein highlighted changes the Air Force has already instituted that include revamping the acquisition process to make it faster and industry. "We prefer the power of collaboration over coercion," Goldfein said to draw the comparison.

A sufficient budget, delivered on time also helps Wilson said in thanking Congress for its action on the current fiscal year budget. Space is a prominent fixture in the White House budget proposed for fiscal 2020. That budget calls for a 17 percent increase on space, pushing the total to $14 billion.

"WE'RE IN AN ERA OF GREAT POWER COMPETITION, AND THE NEXT MAJOR CONFLICT MAY BE WON OR LOST IN SPACE."

more nimble. As part of that effort, Wilson announced that a "Pitch Day" event devoted specifically to space will be held this Fall in Los Angeles. It follows one in March in New York in which 51 contracts, valued at $8.75 million, were awarded in a single day. Most were completed in 15 minutes, the fastest being awarded in less than three minutes.

"To further develop the force, we are graduating our first class of Schriever Scholars and expanding education on space to include junior officer, enlisted and international students," Goldfein noted on the advent of new training efforts focusing on space.

Both emphasized the need to collaborate with allies and Such speed and innovation is crucial, Wilson and Goldfein said, since the United States is no longer alone.

"China is militarizing commercial space technologies and incorporating counter-space technologies into warfighting strategies," she said. "Russia is developing ground-launched missiles, directed-energy weapons and sophisticated satellites to advance their counter-space capabilities."

"We must be able to leverage innovation in the commercial space industry to stay at the forefront of technology and ensure our access to space," she said.

Goldfein touched on similar concepts but presented them through the lens of a warfighter.

"The ultimate objective is to make the prospect of conflict so painful for an adversary that they should prefer dealing with the secretary of state rather than the secretary of defense," Goldfein said.

Air Force announces selection process for officer instructor and recruiting special duty assignments

SECRETARY OF THE AIR FORCE PUBLIC AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON (AFNS) --

The Air Force announced that beginning in April 2019, officers will be screened and selected for formal instructor and recruiting special duty positions.

This latest modification, which is one of many improvements to how the Air Force manages talent, is designed to ensure education, training and recruiting is the best it can be.

"Being an instructor or recruiter helps to shape the future force, but, in the past, we have not rewarded officers who do this important work," said Secretary of the Air Force Heather Wilson. "We gave it lip service. We're changing that. This is just one more part of our effort to improve the way we develop, assign, evaluate and promote Airmen."

Similar to previous efforts for enlisted developmental special duty, promotion boards will value these leadership experiences and the Air Force will offer incentives to those who participate.

"We need inspirational leaders throughout our Air Force and this begins with recruiting and instructing our Airmen," said Air Force Chief of Staff David L. Goldfein.

"As well, our officers who serve in formal instructor and recruiting positions gain tremendous insight and leadership development as they invest in our next generation of warfighters," Goldfein said.

"As we move forward, we will only select those officers who demonstrate the highest character and competence."

In April 2019, the Air Force will publish guidance that outlines the changes to the nomination and selection process for instructor and recruiting special duties. Institutional instructor and recruiting positions will involve senior rater nomination and a central screening board, and functional instructor positions will require selection by development teams.

"Incentivizing these positions for officers is part of our evolving talent management system," said Lt. Gen. Brian Kelly, Air Force Manpower, Personnel and Services deputy chief of staff. "It's our job to deliver lethal and ready Airmen—they remain our competitive advantage and we need each Airman to reach his or her full potential. We're really focused on making the right adaptations to ensure we are enabling a system that is simple, transparent, agile and responsive to the Air Force's and Airmen's needs."

Eligible officers who are interested in applying should log into MyVECTOR and update their initial preferences. The application window will open April 15 and close May 24. Senior raters are required to endorse

Lt Col Dick Cole,
Last surviving Doolittle Raider, passes away at age 103

MASTER SGT. ANDREW STEPHENS | AIR EDUCATION AND TRAINING COMMAND PUBLIC AFFAIRS

JOINT BASE SAN ANTONIO-RANDOLPH, Texas (AFNS) --

A legendary chapter in Air Force history has come to a close.

Retired Lt. Col. Richard "Dick" E. Cole, the last survivor of the "Doolittle Raid," died April 9, in San Antonio.

"Lt. Col. Dick Cole reunited with the Doolittle Raiders in the clear blue skies today," said Secretary of the Air Force Heather Wilson. "My heart goes out to his friends and family as our Air Force mourns with them. We will honor him and the courageous Doolittle Raiders as pioneers in aviation who continue to guide our bright future."

On April 18, 1942, the U.S. Army Air Forces and the Doolittle Raiders attacked Tokyo in retaliation for the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, which boosted American morale in the early months of World War II.

"There's another hole in our formation," said Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. David L. Goldfein. "Our last remaining Doolittle Raider has slipped the surly bonds of Earth, and has reunited with his fellow Raiders.

Retired Lt. Col. Robert "Dick" E. Cole was a B-25 Mitchell bomber copilot and survivor of the Doolittle Raid on Tokyo during World War II. Cole, who was the final surviving Doolittle Raider, passed away April 9, 2019, in San Antonio.

U.S. AIR FORCE GRAPHIC | 2ND LT. ROBERT GUEST.

And what a reunion they must be having. Seventy-seven years ago this Saturday, 80 intrepid Airmen changed the course of history as they executed a one-way mission without hesitation against enormous odds. We are so proud to carry the torch he and his fellow Raiders handed us."

Cole was born Sept. 7, 1915, in Dayton, Ohio. In 1938, he graduated from Steele High School in Dayton and attended two years of college at Ohio University before enlisting as an aviation cadet on Nov. 22, 1940. Soon after he enlisted, Cole received orders to report to Parks Air College in East St. Louis, Illinois, for training before arriving at Randolph Field, Texas and later, Kelly Field, Texas. He completed pilot training and was commissioned as a second lieutenant in July 1941.

While Cole was on a training mission with the 17th Bombardment Group at Pendleton, Oregon, word came that the Japanese had attacked Pearl Harbor.

The 17th BG flew anti-submarine patrols until February 1942, when Cole was told he would be transferred to Columbia, South Carolina. While there, he and his group volunteered for a mission with no known details. Cole would later say that he thought his unit was heading to North Africa.

For weeks, Cole practiced flying maneuvers on the B-25 Mitchell, a U.S. Army Air Corps twin-engine propeller-driven bomber with a crew of five that could take off from an aircraft carrier at sea, in what some would call the first joint action that tested the Army and Navy's ability to operate together. When the carrier finally went to sea to bring 16 bombers closer to maximize their reach, it wasn't until two days into the voyage that the Airmen and Sailors on the mission were told that their carrier, the U.S.S. Hornet, and all of its bombers, were heading in the direction of Tokyo. In an age-before mid-air refueling and GPS, the U.S.S. Hornet weighed less than a quarter of today's fortress-like aircraft carriers. With Cole as the copilot to then-Lt. Col. Jimmy Doolittle, the B-25 Mitchell bomber #40-2344, would take off with only 467 feet of takeoff distance.

What made the mission all the more challenging was a sighting by a Japanese patrol boat that spurred the task force commander, U.S. Navy Adm. William F. "Bull" Halsey, to launch the mission more than 650 nautical miles from Japan – 10 hours early and 170 nautical miles farther than originally planned. Originally, the Mitchells were supposed to land, refuel and proceed on to western China, thereby giving the Army Air Corps a squadron of B-25s and a commander. But now the aircrews faced increasing odds against them, in their attempt to reach the airfields of non-occupied China. Still, Cole and his peers continued with their mission.

Flying at wave-top level around 200 feet and with their radios turned off, Cole and the Raiders avoided detection for as much of the distance as possible. In groups of two to four aircraft, the bombers targeted dry docks, armories, oil refineries and aircraft factories in Yokohama, Nagoya, Osaka and Kobe as well as Tokyo itself. The Japanese air defense was so caught off guard by the Raiders that little anti-aircraft fire was volleyed and only one Japanese Zero followed in pursuit. With their bombs delivered, the Raiders flew towards safety in China.

Many Airmen had to parachute out into the night, Cole himself jumping

Carrot Cake Trifle Recipe

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 box of Carrot Cake Mix & required ingredients
- 1 Carrot
- 8oz of softened cream cheese
- 1.5 sticks of softened butter
- 3.5 cups of powdered sugar
- 1 tsp vanilla
- 16 oz Cool Whip (two regular tubs or one big one)
- Chopped walnuts of pecans

INSTRUCTIONS:

Prepare the carrot cake recipe as instructed (I like to add shredded carrots to the mix to make it feel a little more authentic) in a 9x13 pyrex baking dish. Allow to cool when finished then cut into cubes.
 For the whipped mixture: Using an electric mixer on medium/high speed cream together the softened cream cheese and butter until it becomes light and fluffy. This will take 3-5 minutes and you will need to scrape down the sides. Turn the mixer down to a low speed and add the powdered sugar 1/2 cup at a time until combined. Pour in vanilla and mix for another 2-3 minutes as it continues to fluff. With the mixer still on low add the Cool Whip a little at a time until everything is combined.
 In a trifle bowl or deep glass bowl, place in one layer of carrot cake pieces/crumbs. Then add a layer of your whipped cream cheese mixture. Repeat ending with the whipped cream cheese on top. Add the crushed walnuts or pecans to the top and refrigerate until it's time to serve. Enjoy!

Joint Base Charleston delivers humanitarian aid to the Caribbean

STAFF SGT. DELLA CREECH | 315TH AIRLIFT WING PUBLIC AFFAIRS

BASSETERRE, St. Kitts and Nevis (AFNS) --

A C-17 Globemaster III joint aircrew from the 315th and 437th Airlift wing's from Joint Base Charleston, South Carolina, delivered about 10,000 pounds of humanitarian aid April 6, to St. Kitts-Nevis.

These condensed missions provide active duty Airman and reservist alike the opportunity to accomplish required training, as well as the opportunity to give back through the humanitarian mission.

"This is a win-win," said Senior Master Sgt. Ken Hundemer, a 317th Airlift Squadron loadmaster from JB Charleston. Hundemer works as the Denton Program manager in Charleston, South Carolina, in his civilian life as well.

The aid was coordinated through the Denton Program, enacted in 1985, that provides non-governmental agencies, international organizations and private voluntary donors the opportunity use military aircrafts when there is space available to transport humanitarian aid.

According to the Denton application, it is estimated 13,000 St. Kittitian households are classified as poor, with approximately 25 percent of the population generating less than $53 of weekly income.

"Seeing the smiles on the people's faces when they receive the meals make it all worthwhile," said Chris Findlay, aid partner and Source Global Purchasing and Logistics CEO and president in Mount Pleasant, S.C., who was on hand to help accept the delivery.

These food packets will provide 70,000 safe and nutrition enriched meals to 5,952 men, women and children of St. Kitts and Nevis, as stated by the community-based organizations of ATime4US Foundation, Inc., Mickey's HOPE, and the Ministry of Social Services and Community Development.

In addition to providing aid to those in need, the mission provided the opportunity for a joint aircrew to obtain required mission training.

"This is an excellent opportunity to enhance the Air Force's training mission, as well as meeting the humanitarian aspect," Hundemer said. Capt. Amanda Harman, a 14th AS C-17 pilot from JB Charleston, received cross-ocean training, which is mandatory for pilots to accomplish at least twice a year. Cross-ocean training is normally conducted on a longer timeline of five to 10 days, but this mission allowed Harman the opportunity to accomplish it in two days. Missions like this improve efficiency of Airmen and increase the opportunities for unique training.

"I'm grateful to have had the opportunity to train with the experienced pilots of the (315th AW) and I look forward to future missions," Harman said. All in all, this joint mission impacted the lives of nearly 6,000 Caribbean citizens through JB Charleston Airmen answering the call for humanitarian aid and aid partners with a passion to serve.

U.S. Air Force SrA. Troy A. Severson, 317th Airlift Wing loadmaster at Joint Base Charleston, South Carolina, downloads humanitarian aid, April 6, 2019, at St. Kitts and Nevis. Severson accomplished mandatory checklist training as a loadmaster by assisting in the delivery of 70,000 humanitarian aid meals to St. Kitts and Nevis.

their officers in order for their applications to be submitted to the central board.

Starting in 2020, these opportunities will be added to the Officer Selection Brief and SecAF Memorandum of Instruction for officers who have previously served or are serving in formal instructor and recruiting special duties.

Other incentives will include deployment exemptions, two-year assignments (where possible), alma mater preference for ROTC assignments (when possible) and follow-on assignment preferences (as determined by the Airman's respective career field). Further details on these new processes and incentives will be announced by the Air Force Personnel Center.

In recent months, the Air Force has rolled out similar initiatives under the talent management umbrella, including modifications to the High Year of Tenure policy, the Intermediate Developmental Education selection process, a review of the overhauled Enlisted Evaluation System and the removal of promotion testing for senior non-commissioned officers.

Airmen can expect more modifications to the talent management system over the coming months, to include significant changes to the way it categorizes and promotes Line of the Air Force officers, as well as implementing a streamlined version of the officer promotion recommendation form.

Air Force leadership is continually reviewing, and when necessary, modifying the way they manage, develop, assign and promote Airmen.

out at around 9,000 feet. All aircraft were considered lost with Cole's own aircraft landing in a rice paddy full of night soil. Of the 80 Airmen committed to the raid, eight were captured by Japanese forces with five executed and three sent to prison (where one died of malnutrition). All of the 72 other Airmen found their way to safety with the help of Chinese farmers and guerrillas and continued to serve for the remainder of World War II.

The attack was a psychological blow for the Japanese, who moved four fighter groups and recalled top officers from the front lines of the Pacific to protect the cities in the event American bomber forces returned.

After the Doolittle Raid, Cole remained in the China-Burma-India Theater supporting the 5318th Provisional Air Unit as a C-47 pilot flying "The Hump," a treacherous airway through the Himalayan Mountains. The USAAF created the 5318th PAU to support the Chindits, the long-range penetration groups that were special operations units of the British and Indian armies, with Cole as one of the first members of the U.S. special operations community. On March 25, 1944, the 5318th PAU was designated as the 1st Air Commando Group by USAAF commander Gen. Henry H. Arnold, who felt that an Air Force supporting a commando unit in the jungles of Burma should properly be called "air commandos." Cole's piloting skills blended well with the unconventional aerial tactics of Flying Tiger veterans as they provided fighter cover, bombing runs, airdrops and landing of troops, food and equipment as well as evacuation of casualties.

Cole retired from the Air Force on Dec. 31, 1966, as a command pilot with more than 5,000 flight hours in 30 different aircraft, more than 250 combat missions and more than 500 combat hours. His decorations include the Distinguished Flying Cross with two oak leaf clusters; Air Medal with oak leaf cluster; Bronze Star Medal; Air Force Commendation Medal; and Chinese Army, Navy, Air Corps Medal, Class A, First Grade. All Doolittle Raiders were also awarded the Congressional Gold Medal in May 2014.

In his final years, he remained a familiar face at Air Force events in the San Antonio area and toured Air Force schoolhouses and installations to promote the spirit of service among new generations of Airmen. On Sept. 19, 2016, Cole was present during the naming ceremony for the Northrop Grumman B-21 Raider, named in honor of the Doolittle Raiders.

"We will miss Lt. Col. Cole, and offer our eternal thanks and condolences to his family," Goldfein said. "The Legacy of the Doolittle Raiders - his legacy - will live forever in the hearts and minds of Airmen, long after we've all departed. May we never forget the long blue line, because it's who we are."

- April 21: Easter.
- April 22: Earth Day.

Fishing:

Lake Sakakawea elevation, April 16, 1,845.36 feet above mean sea level (MSL); 13,000 cubic feet per second (CFS) Garrison Dam average daily releases.

Devils Lake elevation: 1,448.64 feet above mean sea level (MSL).

Stump Lake elevation: 1,448.60 MSL.

*N.D. Game & Fish Dept. game wardens: Little to no activity on north-central area lakes as anglers wait for ice-out. Devils Lake slowly starting to open along the edges but not much activity. No Missouri River System reports.

*Devils Lake, Ed's Bait Shop, Devils Lake: Channel A producing good pike success. Also try any of the bridges or along Highway 281. Try smelt, herring or jigs and plastics. Occasional walleye mixed in.

*Devils Lake, Woodland Resort, Devils Lake: Shorelines starting to open but no activity. *Lake Darling, Karma C-Store, Ruthville: Some walleye success at Grano but limited activity from other area lakes.

*Lake Metigoshe, Four Seasons, Bottineau: Not many anglers out but a few are still walking onto the lake with continued walleye success and a few bluegill mixed in.

*Lake Sakakawea/Lake Audubon, Cenex Bait & Tackle, Garrison: Some pike success from shore on the east end of Lake Sakakawea. Try smelt.

OUTDOOR NOTES:

Missouri River slowed with lower Garrison Dam releases. Try to locate deeper pockets of water for walleye.

*Lake Sakakawea/Lake Audubon, 6-Mile Bait & Tackle, Garrison: Some boat activity for walleye at Deepwater Bay and New Town in the midsection of Lake Sakakawea, as well as Douglas Bay on the east end. However, beware of wind conditions so ice doesn't trap the boat. Continued pike success on the east end from shore. Try smelt or herring with occasional success when casting spoons. Missouri River tailrace continues producing walleye.

*Lake Sakakawea, Scenic 23, New Town: Deepwater Bay and New Town ramps open with some walleye activity from boats. Try jigs and minnows from shallow water out to 22 feet. Van Hook Arm was still iced in early in the week.

*Lake Sakakawea/Missouri River, Scott's Bait & Tackle, Pick City: Continued walleye success on the Missouri River, weather permitting. Try jigs and minnows from boats with a variety of presentations in the chutes. Access can be difficult with fluctuating releases, especially for larger boats. A little slower success from shore along the rocks but continue trying crankbaits. Good pike success from shore along the east end of Lake Sakakawea. Try smelt or spoons.

*Lake Sakakawea/northwest N.D. lakes, Scenic Sports, Williston: Little Muddy River continues producing decent walleye success with improving pike activity. Try floating jigs with minnows for walleye and smelt for pike. Lake Sakakawea open down to Lewis & Clark State Park and Lund's Landing, although water is muddy from runoff. Small area lakes nearly open but watch for floating ice chunks.

*Lonetree WMA area lakes, Harvey: Look for some nice-sized walleye from shore on area lakes that are open along the shoreline.

*North-central/central N.D. lakes, Towner Hdwe. Hank, Towner: Little activity as area lakes start to open up.

*Lake Darling, Upper Souris Nat'l. Wildlife Refuge, Foxholm: No activity with anglers generally waiting for ice-out and the lake to open for boat fishing May 1. Lots of people enjoying the hiking trails, which are now open with some success for turkey hunters on the refuge. Grouse are quite active on the leks with a third blind now available for reservations.

*Lake Metigoshe, Lake Metigoshe State Park, Bottineau: Lake Metigoshe, Lake Metigoshe State Park, Bottineau: Lake Metigoshe still has ice but look for it to deteriorate it enough so ice fishing is done for the season. Ruffed grouse are drumming in the woods.

N.D. rivers:

*Des Lacs River, Foxholm: River stage, 5.80 feet; streamflow, 12.4 CFS.

*Little Missouri River, Watford City: Streamflow, 627 CFS.

*Missouri River, Washburn: River stage, 8.61 feet.

*Pembina River, Walhalla: River stage: 6.13 feet.

*Souris River, Foxholm: River stage, 6.97 feet.

*Souris River, Minot: River stage, 5.13 feet; streamflow, 201 CFS.

*Yellowstone River, Sidney, Mont.: River stage, 6.28 feet; streamflow, 12,800 CFS.

Turkey hunting:

*Fair opening weekend success around the river bottoms near Williston but toms aren't real active yet.

New Exhibits at North Dakota State Museums

STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF NORTH DAKOTA

BISMARCK, N.D.—
“Chisels and Shavings: North Dakota Woodcarvings,” on exhibit at the North Dakota Heritage Center & State Museum, features contemporary and historic woodcarvings. A variety of carvings using different techniques are on display, including some traditional cultural styles. Featured is a puppet carved during the 1930s by one of the Flickertail Woodcarvers’ founding members, Works Progress Administration artist Telle Rudser. This exhibit was produced in cooperation with the Bismarck Flickertail Woodcarvers.

Also on exhibit at the North Dakota Heritage Center & State Museum, “Small Things Considered” is a mini-exhibit of 14 photos showcasing artifacts from the archaeological collections of the State Historical Society of North Dakota. If displayed in a large exhibit case, small things might get overlooked, but magnified many times their actual size, they get the spotlight they deserve.

“Sundogs and Sunflowers: Folklore and Folk Art of the Northern Great Plains,” based on the award-winning book of the same name, will open in April at the Pembina State Museum. Twenty unique pieces of folk art, made by contemporary North Dakota artists, are paired with stories, legends, and traditions of the prairie. This unique exhibit celebrates the rich folk heritage of the northern Great Plains. This exhibit was produced by the North Dakota Council on the Arts.

In May, a small exhibit about the 50th Anniversary of “Zip to Zap” will be installed at the North Dakota Heritage Center & State Museum. Watch for more information at statemuseum.nd.gov.

Admission to these exhibits is free. For more information, contact Genia Hesser, 701.328.2102. The North Dakota Heritage Center & State Museum is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Native American Cultural Center to honor Tom and Judy Fredericks at Powwow

MICHAEL LINNELL | DIRECTOR OF MINOT STATE UNIVERSITY COMMUNICATIONS

MINOT, N.D. – The Minot State University Native American Cultural Center will honor Tom and Judy Fredericks for the establishment of the Catherine Medicine Stone Fredericks Scholarship Endowment at the 30th annual Spring Honor Dance & Powwow Celebration.

The Fredericks will be honored with a Men's Traditional Special Friday, April 26 after the Grand Entry, which is set for 7 p.m. There will be cash prizes totaling $1,000 for first, second, and third place in the Men's Traditional Special.

The Spring Honor Dance & Powwow, hosted by the Native American Cultural Center and the Native American Cultural Awareness Club, is scheduled for Friday, April 26 and Saturday, April 27 at the Minot State University Dome.

"We are very excited to be able to honor Tom and Judy at the Spring Honor Dance & Powwow for all they have done for Native American students at Minot State and for the Native American Cultural Center," said Annette Mennem, director of the Native American Cultural Center. "This scholarship, one of several that Minot State offers for Native American students, will directly help students pursuing their education at Minot State and for that we are forever grateful for their generosity."

The Catherine Medicine Stone Fredericks Scholarship Endowment was established in December 2018. It was created by the Fredericks to honor Tom's mother, Catherine, who had the foresight to make education a family priority.

"It is our hope this scholarship will give Native students an opportunity to gain a higher education that will allow them to attain a better life," the Fredericks said in a statement when starting the endowment. "It is in honor of Catherine's strong leadership of her family's education. Tom could think of no better way to honor his mother than to have Native students get scholarships to aid them in what Catherine believed was the road to success."

Tom, an enrolled member of the Mandan, Hidatsa, and Arikara Nation, is the equity partner at Fredericks Peebles & Morgan, LLP, one of the nation's largest Native American law firms dedicated solely to the practice of federal Indian law. He was the founding partner in his own firm in 1979. Tom was appointed in the President Jimmy Carter administration to the Assistant Secretary for Indian Affairs, the highest American Indian position. He was also Associate Solicitor of Indian Affairs within the Department of Interior.

He earned his undergraduate degree at Minot State and earned his law degree from the University of Colorado at Boulder Law School. In 2011, Tom earned Minot State's Golden Award, the highest award bestowed by the MSU Alumni Association, and in 2018 he was named to the Minot State Athletics Hall of Fame.

Catherine was born in the village of Ree on the banks of the Missouri River. Her first language was Mandan and later learned Arikara and understood Hidatsa. She learned to speak English when she attended boarding school in Pipestone, Minnesota at the age of nine. Catherine was a lifetime resident of Fort Berthold Indian Reservation, where her and her husband, John Fredericks, Sr., owned a successful ranching operation along the banks of the Little Missouri River.

Eight of the nine children Catherine and John raised earned college degrees with several attaining advanced degrees. Among her children and grandchildren are doctors, lawyers, nurses, engineers, pharmacists, accountants, educators, and other professionals.

The Minot State Native American Cultural Center exists to provide academic support services and advocacy to Native American/American Indian students at Minot State, while serving as a home away from home. The Center also serves to provide awareness and sensitivity to ethnicity and culture through education experiences for students, faculty, staff, and the surrounding communities.

The Native American Cultural Awareness Club (NACAC) exists to offer support and encouragement to Native American students attending Minot State. Additionally, NACAC promotes an awareness and understanding for Native American culture and Indian issues at the university and greater Minot community. The club annually sponsors the Spring Honor Dance & Powwow Celebration and Native American Cultural Celebration Week.
