United to End Domestic Abuse

The military respects, supports and defends victims of domestic abuse

MINOT AIR FORCE BASE VIOLENCE PREVENTION PROGRAM

The 2020 Domestic Violence Awareness campaign promotes the idea that preventing domestic abuse is a shared community responsibility that starts with a message of support for victims.

Getting help for an abusive relationship is difficult, especially during a global crisis. The public health measures designed to slow coronavirus disease 2019 have created conditions that may contribute to domestic abuse. Stay-at-home orders increase risk factors for victims by keeping them in quarantine with their abuser and may cut them off from friends, relatives and safe havens, such as crisis shelters. This year's campaign focuses on informing family and friends of victims about how they can help, and reminding victims that assistance is always available.

Calls to Action:

- Know someone who is experiencing relationship abuse? Ask them how you can best support them.
- Know someone in an unhealthy relationship? Let them know you're there to listen and offer ways to get help.
- Know someone who feels unsafe at home? Stay in touch to let them know they're not alone.
- Feeling unsafe at home? You have options for getting help.
- Feeling unsafe at home? We're here for you 24/7.

When it comes to domestic abuse, everyone's situation is different – it can happen to anyone and is not their fault.

Whatever the circumstances, a call to your installation's Family Advocacy Program or Military OneSource can link you to resources and support.

*Preventing abuse starts with promoting an understanding of what safe and healthy relationships look like, and domestic abuse through victim advocacy and crisis intervention. If you or someone you know is experiencing domestic abuse, and you are not sure what to do, make a call to one of the victim advocates on your installation. Minot Air Force Base 24/7 Crisis Line: 701-343-3531; Family Advocacy: 701-723-5097

* If you are concerned about your safety and need immediate support, call the National Domestic Violence Hotline at 800-799-7233 or live chat with an advocate at thehotline.org.

* If a friend or family member is experiencing domestic abuse, do not pressure them to leave. Instead, tell them you are there for them and that you can help them plan for their safety or seek outside support when they are ready. Ask them how they prefer stay in touch and support and believe them.

* In times of increased isolation, make yourself available for scheduled check-ins with loved ones who may feel unsafe at home - whether it be by phone, text or social media - so you will know if they're OK or if you need to call for help.

providing ways for individuals to take steps such as setting boundaries and seeking help in stressful times, and knowing what support is available.

Back Talk

Excuse me your house is on fire

I love hunting and driving down those country roads you see lots of abandoned buildings. You maybe know what I am talking about. There is little to no paint left on the siding, no glass left in the windows, the roof is sagging etc. They look in pretty rough shape. Even the worst of those houses though if the foundation is sound and the structure still strong could be restored. The worse the house looks the more work it would take, but some lumber, a saw, some paint windows, shingles etc and after some hard work that house could be lived in again. It would be restored. Even though it may be difficult if you put in the work you could restore that house. Now imagine you doing all that work that you need to do but the house is on fire!!! Suddenly it does not matter so much what color theme you pick for the bedroom or what hardware to use on the kitchen cabinets. You cannot restore a house that is on fire!!! At the very least your job just got MUCH more difficult.

Chiropractors are the carpenters of the medical community. When you come in for your assessment we see what kind of shape the house is in and give you a plan fixed up as good as possible. It is the really cool thing about our profession. Just like the example I gave above though our job as the carpenters of the medical community becomes much more difficult if your house is on fire. How can your house/body be on fire? Well in your body the fire is inflammation. If there is too much inflammation in the system the job of remodeling becomes much more difficult. Fortunately, there is a way to put reduce that inflammation and put out that fire. I have found great success in my practice with putting chronically inflamed and chronically in pain patients on an anti-inflammatory diet. It is miraculous what can happen. Suddenly people who had to come in several times per week just to be able to walk could go weeks between appointments and feel much better than they ever imagined. The program I have found most successful for people is called primal eating. It is based on the work of Mark Sisson and his book the "The Primal Blueprint." I started following the advice in this book over 10 years ago to lose weight and it worked very well. I lost 40lbs and have kept it off since. One thing I noticed while doing the program though was that the inflammation I was experiencing got a lot better too!! A chiropractor with patients who eat clean and anti-inflammatory foods is like a carpenter with a perfect set of tools...everything is way easier and the results are fantastic!! I am more than happy to speak with you about the primal eating plan and help you to implement it in your life and feel great!!! The thing I like most about the plan is that it is easy to follow. You can eat at any restaurant, and find plenty to eat on holidays or at dinner parties. Lets put out that fire and get serious about that remodel! Call us today 701-852-2800

Bomber Barons return from Bomber Task Force Europe

23D EXPEDITIONARY BOMB SQUADRON, MINOT AIR FORCE BASE PUBLIC AFFAIRS

MINOT AIR FORCE BASE, ND --

U.S. Air Force B-52 Stratofortress strategic bombers and Airmen from the 5th Bomb Wing, Minot Air Force Base, North Dakota, operating out of RAF Fairford, England, returned home on Sep. 29, 2020.

For the last five weeks, 5th BW Airmen, aircraft and equipment conducted theater and flight training across Europe and Africa to test their ability to adapt to and operate from a forward operating location.

The B-52 aircraft flew 57 missions with 100 partner aircraft, alongside allies and partners from 30 different countries. They conducted integration and interoperability missions over the North, Barents, Black, Norwegian, and Mediterranean Seas, and in the Baltic region.

This rotation also included coordination with the 501st Combat Support Wing, RAF Alconbury, England, as well as integration with RAF Lakenheath aircraft, aerial refueling from RAF Mildenhall, and training with the U.S. Navy USS Roosevelt.

Operations and engagements with allies and partners serve as cornerstones highlighting U.S. European and U.S. Africa Command's commitment to global security and stability. These missions also serve as a reminder that, despite ongoing challenges presented by COVID-19, U.S. forces remain ready to execute their missions across all domains while enhancing interoperability alongside our allies and partners.

"Every BTF gives us opportunities to generate sorties in a unique environment to support US objectives and to strengthen our relationship with NATO allies, but COVID-19 restrictions created additional challenges not normally experienced during a typical BTF that our team overcame," said Capt. Dom Scaletti, 5th BW Aircraft Maintenance Unit Officer In Charge. "Coordinating for logistic support and aircraft parts at a foreign operating location was another of the challenges we faced to maintain 100 percent mission completion."

Despite these challenges, the eyes of the world continue to watch as Airmen from the 23rd Bomb Squadron completed every mission of BTF 20-4 with countless integrations from all NATO Allies and partners including the first rendition of Allied Sky on Aug. 29, 2020.

"The importance of being out here right now proves we are able to operate in spite of COVID-19 and assures everyone of our ability to project this airpower," said Lt. Col. Michael Middents, 23rd Bomb Squadron Commander "We aren't just going to be here for our allies, we are here for our allies."

These training missions enabled us to build on our enduring relationships necessary to confront the broad range of global challenges.

"This is a capability we are able to provide to our allies and that the adversaries can not compete with," said Middents.

"U.S. Air Forces in Europe and Air Forces Africa must stay strategically predictable yet operationally unpredictable," said Gen. Jeff Harrigian, USAFE - AFAFRICA commander. "These missions demonstrate we have global reach and can hold any target at risk."

Five B-52H Stratofortresses aircraft assigned to the 5th Bomb Wing return to Minot Air Force Base, North Dakota from RAF Fairford, England on 29 Sept. 2020 after the conclusion of Bomber Task Force 20.4. The U.S. routinely and visibly demonstrates commitment to allies and partners through the global employment of military forces.

Department of the Air Force makes additional updates to dress and appearance regulations

SECRETARY OF THE AIR FORCE PUBLIC AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON (AFNS) -- As part of the ongoing effort to build a more inclusive Air and Space Force, additional revisions were approved Sept. 15 to Air Force Instruction 36-2903, "Dress and Personal Appearance of Air Force Personnel," which are effective immediately.

Following the Department of the Air Force's initial review, a diverse panel of Total Force Airmen completed a second review of Air Force grooming and appearance guidance in order to enhance inclusiveness while maintaining Department of the Air Force professional standards.

The changes are as follows:

- Clarification that the authorization to dye hair to natural colors applies to all Airmen regardless of natural born hair color. Examples of natural hair colors are brown, blonde, brunette, natural red, black or grey.

- Men's hair bulk standard was increased from 1 1/4 inches to 2 inches.

- Men's hair may have one (cut, clipped or shaved) front to back, straight-line part, not slanted or curved, on either side of their head, above the temple. Part will not exceed 4 inches length or 1/4 inch width.

- Women's hair bulk standard was increased from 3 1/2 inches to 4 inches.

For more information, service members should view Air Force Guidance Memorandum 2020-02 and check Air Force Instruction 36-2903 for updates, which are available on the public website of the Air Force's Personnel Center at <https://www.afpc.af.mil/Career-Management/Dress-and-Appearance/>.

numbers of lesser Canada geese starting to filter into some areas of North Dakota, including around eastern Lake Sakakawea, northwestern areas, and north of Valley City in some areas of east-central N.D. Generally only local birds are scattered around the midsection of Lake Sakakawea with poor water conditions limiting duck numbers around the midsection. Good numbers of local ducks around Devils Lake but lots of hunting pressure. Some area wetlands have poor water conditions. Good numbers of area birds and generally fair to good success in east-central N.D. North-central region has OK waterfowl numbers but birds are moving around quite a bit depending on local wetland conditions. A few snow geese scattered along some areas of the state.

INGREDIENTS

6 RUSSET POTATOES
1 ONION, DICED
4 CLOVES GARLIC, MINCED
1 POUND GROUND BEEF OR LAMB
1 1/2 CUP TOMATO SAUCE
4 CUP MIXED VEGETABLES, FROZEN
1 CUP GUINNESS EXTRA STOUT
1 TABLESPOON WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE
1 TEASPOON FRESH THYME
SALT AND PEPPER, TO TASTE
BUTTER, STICKS
1 CUP MILK
1 1/2 CUP SHREDDED CHEDDAR CHEESE

Bring a large pot of water to a boil for the potatoes. Let this heat up while you cook the meat mixture.

In a large skillet, cook the onion, then add garlic. Add beef or lamb and cook until browned. Drain off grease.

Add tomato sauce and vegetables to meat. Cook for 4-5 minutes, stirring often. Add Guinness, Worcestershire sauce, thyme, and salt and pepper to taste. Boil until the liquid has reduced by half and thickened (about 15 minutes).

Add the potatoes to the boiling water and cook for 15-20 minutes or until soft but not mushy. Drain and cool. Mash the potatoes with butter, milk, salt and pepper to taste.

Once meat mixture is done cooking and the potatoes are mashed, divide the meat mixture between two dishes. Top with mashed potatoes then with the cheese.

When ready to cook, set the Traeger to 350° F and preheat, lid closed, for 10 to 15 minutes.

Bake for 30-45 minutes or until potatoes are golden brown and cheese is melted. Serve hot. Enjoy!

Preparations Underway to Ensure Safe Voting Options

DONNELL PRESKEY HUSHKA, ND ASSOCIATION OF COUNTIES

County auditors across the state have been working diligently to increase voting options for the November election. COVID-19 health and safety concerns are at the center of election preparations. In-person voting will be held in every county for the general election. This is a switch from the June election when Governor Burgum's executive order allowed North Dakota counties to provide Vote-by-Mail without a voting location.

"We are focused on being able to maintain social distancing and poll worker safety while offering many different options for voters to utilize. Increasing the voting options ensures everyone has the opportunity to vote in a way that feels comfortable for them during this time," commented Ward County Auditor Marisa Haman.

Counties are increasing voting options, especially promoting absentee voting to minimize the risk of COVID-19 spread. Forty-two counties will be vote-by-mail, providing at least one voting location on Election Day. In Vote-by-Mail counties, at a minimum, all active voters in the database will be sent an application for a ballot.

Ten Counties are offering early voting, the length of time differs in each of those counties. Cass County, for example, will provide six early voting locations where any Cass County voter can vote. It is important for voters to check with their counties to determine when and if early voting is offered in their county. Early voting can begin October 19th.

"Statewide, there will be a 50% reduction in the number of polling locations open on Election Day. There will be 112 polling locations open November 3rd compared to 216 in 2018. COVID-19 is the primary reason for the reduction as Auditors are having difficulty finding enough pollworkers," said Donnell Preskey Hushka who serves as Executive Director for the North Dakota County Auditors Association. "In many counties, you will see larger facilities utilized to allow for greater spacing as well as operating vote centers. Vote centers allow county residents to vote at any of the polling location in their county."

In order to provide in-person voting there is a lot of preparation to create the safest environment for voters and poll workers. Counties have purchased personal protective equipment for poll workers along with the appropriate cleaning products for election equipment to sanitize voting locations throughout the day. "We have ordered sneeze shields, masks, gloves, face shields and hand sanitizer for our workers. We will also have hand sanitizer for voters at each voting location. We will hang signs to remind voters of the current CDC and NDDOH guidelines in each voting location," said McKenzie

County Auditor Erica Johnsrud.

Floors will be marked at many locations to encourage voters to keep six feet apart. Each voter will also receive an individually wrapped pen that they will keep. Auditors are hiring additional individuals to work at the polls as backups as well as to sanitize voting locations. Auditors hope these safety protocols will ensure that voting is safe on Election Day and ease concerns for potential poll workers.

Auditors anticipate that it may be more difficult this year to find enough folks to work at the polls. Counties are looking to recruit new poll workers. The concern lies with the fact that a great majority of the poll worker population is of retired age, who are more susceptible to COVID-19.

North Dakota Voters can also vote absentee by requesting an application for a ballot to be mailed to them. "I'm hoping more voters will take advantage of absentee voting, but there are people that like to vote in person even though there is a pandemic going on. It's our responsibility to take every action possible to make sure we are minimizing the health risks when voting," said Bottineau County Auditor Lisa Herbel.

Auditors are expecting between 50 and 60 percent of North Dakota voters will vote absentee in the General Election. Voters who receive an absentee ballot are encouraged to return them in a prompt manner. Ballots are required to be postmarked the day before the election or placed into the ballot drop box by 5 p.m. the day before Election Day.

A voter outreach campaign has been launched to help increase awareness of the voting options in North Dakota and encourages voters to make a plan to vote. The campaign will include social media, direct mail, billboards and print and tv ads.

Contact your county auditor or visit vote.nd.gov with any election related questions or to request your absentee ballot.

3 Ways To Vote In Ward County

Vote Absentee

To request an absentee ballot, they can go to vote.nd.gov or contact the county auditor. You will want to request a ballot by mid-October and return the ballot in a timely manner. Mail at least a week ahead of time, you can also deliver your ballot to a ballot drop box. There are 7 ballot drop boxes in Ward County. You will want to make sure ballots are delivered to the ballot drop boxes by 5 p.m. November 2nd.

Early Voting

There will be Early Voting in Ward County starting Oct. 26th at the Ward County Administrative Building.

Voting on Election Day

Voting on Election Day – Ward County will have five locations they will be operated as Vote Centers, meaning any Ward County voter can vote any of the locations, vs at a precinct.

On 1 October 2020, Minot Public Schools issued a memorandum in response to new quarantine protocols announced by Governor Burgum. To view the full document please visit: <https://tinyurl.com/y3zmd9x7>. An overview of these changes are as follows:

"In the hopes of getting students back in school as quickly as possible, the following provisions will be put in place effective immediately:

- If your child was notified by a school official of a school related quarantine, he/she will be allowed to return to school, effective immediately..

- If your child was quarantined due to close contact during a time they were not wearing a mask at school, you will be notified and the original quarantine period will remain in place.

- If your child was quarantined due to close contact outside of school or within the home, please reach out to your assigned case manager for clarification.

- If your child is quarantined due to a household contact (another family member living in the home has been diagnosed with COVID) he /she must stay at home during the assigned quarantine period.

- Quarantined students at North Plains, Dakota, and Memorial on the Minot Air Force Base will remain under quarantine until final determination is made by the Minot Air Force Base Public Health Office."

Parents may note that the three schools located on the installation have a policy that varies from the in-town schools. The reason for this variation is that Minot Air Force Base must follow Department of Defense regulation which aligns to the Centers for Disease Control guidance. If families have any questions regarding a student who is currently in quarantine they should reach out to the school principal or the Public Health Office who issued the quarantine order.

Department of the Air Force releases new military tuition assistance approach for FY21

SECRETARY OF THE AIR FORCE PUBLIC AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON (AFNS) --

Department of the Air Force officials announced a $3,750 military tuition assistance cap per fiscal year that will go into effect for college courses beginning Oct. 1.

Previously, military tuition assistance limits were $4,500 per fiscal year, but adjustments were required to ensure the program remains fully available and fiscally sustainable while meeting an increase in participation rates, the number of courses taken and course costs.

"While usage by our Airmen and Space Professionals is fantastic and we're encouraged by the number working on their degrees, we need to make sure the benefit is accessible to as many of our service members as possible each year," said Lt. Gen. Brian T. Kelly, deputy chief of staff for manpower, personnel and services. "In 2013, under sequestration, tuition assistance was suspended for some time and our service members were negatively impacted. As we go forward and budgets get tight, we want to prevent that from happening again and we made hard decisions in order to keep this program viable and accessible to our force."

Credit hour limits remain the same at $250 per semester hour and $166.66 per quarter hour.

Applications will be routed using normal procedures on the Air Force Virtual Education Center online platform. Airmen and Space Professionals may apply for tuition assistance up to 45 days prior to the start of their class date. The adjustments should help equitably stretch funding, but should fiscal year funds become exhausted at year end, service members who did not get their applications approved will have to wait until the new fiscal year's funds are available to apply for tuition assistance.

"Tuition assistance aids in the development of a highly-educated and skilled military force," Kelly said. "By making these adjustments, we ensure this key benefit continues for all Airmen and Space Professionals."

These adjustments apply to both undergraduate-level and graduate-level classes. Recognizing there may be potential reasons for exceeding the annual cap waivers to the policy are available for unique circumstances. For example, members whose degree program requires a lab class exceeding the $3,750 limit by one semester hour or two quarter hours, or those working on a unique degree deadline may apply for a waiver.

Consult Air Force Instruction 36-2670 Total Force Development and Air Force guidance memorandum 2020-02 for details.

"Tuition assistance is a key and central in-service education benefit, but it's only one of several avenues members can use to get their degrees and minimize out-of-pocket expenses," Kelly said. Air Force officials noted comparing school costs, researching other resources such as Post-9/11 GI Bill benefits, Defense Activity for Non-Traditional Education Support's, or DANTES, subject standardized tests, or DSST, college-level examination programs, or CLEP, pursuing Community College of the Air Force degrees and other funding sources such as scholarships and grants as parts of the overall education benefit that can help minimize expenses.

Contact your local education and training office and your college counselor to explore all additional funding opportunities.

MAJ. GEN. LUTTON QOL VISIT

U.S. AIR FORCE PHOTOS | AIRMAN FIRST CLASS JAN K. VALLE

A Sit Down with Maj. Gen. Lutton

Question: One of your command priorities is building integrated lethality. What does that look like, and how can the Airmen of the 91st apply it to the mission?

Maj. Gen. Lutton: So integrated lethality to the Airmen is their ability to not only work in their organization, but across organizations to improve combat capabilities. So I think a good example of that is when we generate combat power not only the 91st, but any of our units in Global Strike Command, it really takes multiple teams to do that, and to do that effectively it really requires mission support, medical, operations, maintenance, security forces; and that is really integrated lethality. And when you are at that echelon you have multiple disciplines working together for a common purpose to generate combat power for the nation.

Question: So it was recently announced by U.S. Stratcom that the 91st Missile Wing won the 2019 Omaha Trophy for best ICBM wing. What's the significance of winning this award?

Maj. Gen. Lutton: So I think the significance of winning the Omaha Trophy is an acknowledgement of the Roughriders dedication to mission success and making sure that they're able to deliver on behalf of Global Strike Command for the nation. Their one of many wings we have in Global Strike Command; the competition was very difficult, very tough, but the Roughriders were able to go ahead and secure that trophy. This is not the first time that they have done that, and I have just a shout out to the Warbirds, as the 5th Bomb Wing also secured the trophy as well. Kudos to them, and it just really underscores in my mind the teamwork that you have in Team Minot with the 91st and the 5th Bomb Wing. Getting after it!

Question: So you spent a couple of years here at Minot as 91st Missile Wing Commander, what do you miss most about Minot Air Force Base?

Maj. Gen. Lutton: Well I miss the people, the most, which after 29 years that's a common theme; and it's just being out in the field with the Airmen day in and day out that are doing the mission, and Chief Orf and I talk about it routinely that it's really critical to remind the Airmen just how well they are doing. There's a lot of things going on, not only in the world but with the global pandemic, right, and how it impacts our ability not only as citizens, but as military that is providing national security. We couldn't be more-proud of the Airmen at Minot, and in particular the 91st, for their contributions to the United States national security in the form of nuclear deterrence. It's just great to be back in the field with those Airmen.

Question: How important are Bronze Star recipients like Capt. Ashton to the success of the overall Minot Air Force Base team?

Maj. Gen. Lutton: That's a great question. It was great visiting with Capt. Ashton and his family the other day and recognizing his contributions to the joint fight in the central command area of responsibility. And really, my comments to him, and to the larger group, was his embodiment of our core values of integrity, service & excellence. So I think the Bronze Star is absolutely critical recognition of what he contributed to the joint fight down range, and also representative of the Airmen that serve at Minot day in and day out.

Question: What's your favorite part of visiting the wings of the 20th Air Force?

Maj. Gen. Lutton: For me it's just meeting the Airmen. Understanding what they're doing. What support they can get from senior leadership and how we can contribute to them. Not only executing the mission, but also developing them as Airmen and caring for them and their families. So there is an element of that you just can't get from behind a desk. You have got to get out in the field and you have got to see the Airmen. So any chance Chief Orf and I get to do that...we're excited to do that. That's pretty much what we would rather be doing any day.

Question: Any further words for Team Minot

Maj. Gen. Lutton: Bully!

Maj. Gen. Lutton Quality of Life visit

AIRMAN FIRST CLASS JAN K. VALLE, 5TH BOMB WING PUBLIC AFFAIRS

MINOT AIR FORCE BASE, N.D. -- Maj. Gen. Mike Lutton, 20th Air Force commander, and Chief Master Sgt. Charlie Orf, 20th Air Force command chief, visited Minot Air Force Base, Sep. 29 - Oct. 2, 2020. From June 2014 to June 2016, Maj. Gen. Lutton was the 91st Missile Wing commander. He made some significant changes to the base and once again visited his old stomping grounds. "I miss the people the most," said Lutton. "I miss being out at the missile fields with Airmen that are completing the mission. It is really critical to remind the Airmen how well they are doing,

We couldn't be more proud of the airmen in Minot and the 91st Missile Wing." During their visit, Lutton presented a Bronze star to Captain Bryan Ashton, 54th Helicopter Squadron pilot, for outstanding achievement and upholding Air Force standards through his contributions while on his deployment. "He embodied our core values of service before self, integrity first and excellence in all we do," said Lutton. "The bronze star is a critical recognition of what he contributed to the joint fight downrange, and also represents the Airmen who serve in Minot, day in and day out."

Lutton and Orf also connected and spoke to several Airmen from the 91st Missile Wing and 5th Bomb Wing. One of the stops was at an ICBM launch facility where Lutton and Orf talked to the Airmen from 91st Security Forces and the 91st Maintenance Squadron. They shared personal experiences of their time in the Air Force and ideas to further improve Airmen camaraderie at Minot AFB and the Air Force. "One of the highlights for Chief Orf and I are visiting the bases in the 20th Air Force and meeting the Airmen who accomplish our vital mission," said Lutton. "Nothing beats talking to these Airmen and hearing first-hand their innovative ideas and passion for the ICBM mission." Both wings at Minot AFB were awarded the 2019 Omaha Trophy. The award has evolved alongside USSTRATCOM operations and distinguishes units for outstanding performance in the categories of global operations, intercontinental ballistic missile operations, ballistic missile submarine operations, strategic bomber operations, and strategic aircraft operations. "We are also excited to celebrate the 2019 Omaha Trophy win with the Roughriders," said Lutton. "This award clearly reflects that they are an outstanding team of professionals and constantly demonstrate mission focus, teamwork, and resiliency." Lutton's mission for the 20th Air Force and especially the 91st Missile Wing is to enhance and achieve integrated lethality. He expects Airmen to integrate with other organizations to improve combat capabilities. "When you have multiple disciplines working together for a common purpose and generating combat power for the nation, that's how you successfully have integrated lethality," said Lutton. "It takes multiple teams to achieve integrated lethality effectively, it requires, for example, mission support, medical, operations, and security forces."

Maj. Gen. Mike Lutton, 20th Air Force commander, speaks to 91st Missile Wing Airmen at a Launch Facility, Sep. 30, 2020. Lutton's mission for the 20th Air Force and especially the 91st Missile Wing is to enhance and achieve integrated lethality. He expects Airmen to integrate with other organizations to improve combat capabilities.

Maj. Gen. Mike Lutton, 20th Air Force commander, presents a bronze star to Capt. Bryan Ashton, 54th Helicopter Squadron pilot at Minot Air Force Base, North Dakota, Sep. 30, 2020. A LOOK BACK THIS WEEK IN USAF HISTORY

CHARLES "CHUCK" YEAGER BREAKS THE SOUND BARRIER
OCTOBER 14, 1947

On October 14, 1947, US Air Force Captain Charles E. "Chuck" Yeager became the first person to fly faster than the speed of sound. Yeager enlisted in the Army Air Corps (which would branch off to become the modern USAF) in September of 1941. He trained as a pilot under the flying sergeant program and received his wings in March 1943.

In June 1947, Yeager was chosen to attempt to become the first person to break the sound barrier in a Bell XS-1, which he nicknamed Glamorous Glenn after his wife. Yeager flew the plane to a speed of Mach 0.85 on his first powered flight. On his eighth flight on October 10, Yeager lost pitch control as a shock wave formed, but still reached Mach 0.997. On October 14, Yeager and his plane dropped away from the bomb bay of a B-29 Superfortress. He accelerated upwards to 42,000 feet, reaching Mach 0.92. Finally, at about 43,000 feet, Chuck Yeager and the Bell XS-1 were flying faster than the speed of sound at Mach 1.06, or about 700 mph, over the Mojave Desert in California. Chuck Yeager's achievement was declassified in June of 1948, and it paved the way for more research on supersonic flight.

Servicing Vehicle Week

Did you know that your vehicle is supposed to be serviced every “so many” miles? I’m not talking about a regular oil change every five to seven thousand miles, what I mean is that when your vehicle gets to a certain mileage, different parts of your vehicle are also recommended to be changed or replaced. This is called timed, or severe maintenance. Timed maintenance will be your every 6-month mark and severe maintenance will be about every 5 thousand miles. We’ll be covering the details on specific vehicles with higher miles.

At 100,000 miles on a 2001 Ford F150 it says you should inspect the brake system, rotate tires, and drive belts along with replacing the PCV valve. On a 2006 Jeep Grand Cherokee at 102,000 miles it states to flush and replace the cooling system, inspect brake hoses and lines, chassis body nuts and bolts, hose and clamps on the cooling system, exhaust system, replace engine oil and filter, and rotate the tires. Or if we have a 2011 Chevy Cruze, at 100,000 miles we inspect the evap emission control system and replace the air cleaner element, automatic transaxle fluid, timing belt and the spark plugs.

Even though each vehicle is going in for a 100,000-mile checkup doesn’t mean they’ll all get the same service. Inspecting also does not mean that part needs replaced. It could simply need to be cleaned of dirt or debris to get it running properly again. Servicing your vehicle at the recommended mileage could help you save money in the long run. Is a spark plug going bad or do you have an oil spot under your car after you pull away from a parking spot? Going without fluids could do permanent damage to your transmission and motor. Paying a few hundred dollars every so often is so much better than having to replace and pay thousands. Here at Dynamic we go by the books to make sure your vehicle is getting the care it needs. Call today to get a customized quote on your vehicle. Great service along with great prices.

Northern Celebrations

Embracing our
North Dakota
Lifestyle

The king of upland hunting is here

Patricia Stockdill

The 2020 North Dakota pheasant season is upon us, a cause for celebration and reflection. In this case, reflection means pheasant trivia, AKA "How much do you know about a bird originating from someplace other than North America yet is the state's most popular game bird?"

Drum roll, please...: Trivia Question No. 1: Where were the first pheasants housed when brought to North Dakota? Answer: In April 1910 the N.D. Game and Fish Board of Control, the predecessor to the modern Game and Fish Department, held 75 birds at a facility at St. John, N.D. known as the St. John Hatchery.

Trivia Question No. 2: What does the sharp tip of a spur on the leg of a pheasant indicate? Answer: Well, for starters if anyone answers that they don't shoot pheasants with spurs they might want to re-think their species identification skills and consider themselves lucky they haven't been stopped by a game warden. That's because by fall when pheasant season is open even juvenile roosters have spurs on their feet. Roosters less than a year old have a short, soft spur with dull tip. Adult roosters have sharp, pointy spurs. They serve a rooster well in times of self-defense or while jousting with a competing rooster during spring nesting season.

The size of a spur is one way biologists identify juveniles from adult roosters.

As long as we're talking feet, Trivia Question No. 3 asks what is one difference between a pheasant and sharp-tailed grouse foot? Answer: Sharptails have small feathers on their feet extending down to their toes. Their feathered feet act like snowshoes in the winter, allowing them to stay atop of snow. Pheasants have bare feet and legs and fall through soft snow. The ability of grouse to "snowshoe" over snow rather than walk barefooted and fall through is one reason native grouse better survive North Dakota's winters. Identification techniques lead to Trivia Question No. 4: What other method is used to age upland game birds in general? Answer: Wing feathers. The length and shape of wing feathers helps biologists determine the age of a juvenile bird in the number of weeks.

Pollinating insects and plants are the buzzword across the nation with concerns over declining insect populations, which play a critical role in human food production. Honey producers and the agriculture and conservation community are working together to encourage establishment of more pollinating plant acres.

So here is Trivia Question No. 5 – yes, it really does relate to pheasants: Why would a conservation group like Pheasants Forever care about honeybees or other pollinating insects and plants such as purple coneflowers? Answer: Not just humans need pollinators. Young pheasant chicks rely on soft insects for food the first several weeks of their life before transitioning to vegetation.

Next question, please, Trivia No. 6: What is the average weight of a rooster pheasant in North Dakota? Answer: 3 1/2-pounds, typically about a pound more than a hen pheasant.

Trivia Question No. 7: With North Dakota's first pheasants arriving in 1910, when did neighboring South Dakota, a state so enamored with the bird it named the ring-necked pheasant its official state bird, begin its wily ringneck introduction? Answer: Scanty records point towards a release of birds from Oregon near Sturgis, S.D. in 1891. However, South Dakota's first major stocking occurred in 1909.

Trivia Question No. 8: What do pheasants, dogs, and cows have in common? Answer: Unlike humans, all three species don't sweat to cool their bodies. Instead, they must pant to remove excess body heat. Trivia Question No. 9: What percentage of pheasants harvested in North Dakota are typically juvenile birds? Answer: Decades of hunter harvest survey consistently indicate about 80 percent are juveniles. And finally, what is the 2020 daily limit of pheasants? Answer: A word of caution - hunters need to get this right to avoid problems if they meet a game warden – three. Possession limit is 12.

Pika, a Brittany calling New Mexico home as a puppy, doesn't mind snow at all as long as she's hunting. North Dakota's most popular upland bird season opens Oct. 10 this year.
