Are your retirement plans losing interest?

It has been a few years now that I have been looking at things around home that need doing and saying, "I'll save that to do when I retire." But, I'm not retiring and with every year I lose interest in those retirement plans. And, I fear that when I do retire, I'll be too damn old and feeble to swing a hammer let alone hustle sheets of material. Projects I projected would take a "couple of days" could well turn into much larger and longer-lived challenges. I make myself feel better by thinking that more interest on my part isn't likely to increase the value of the House of Misery, so my sinking interest is following sinking home prices. However, I remind myself that I bought the place not once but twice, so finding a first time buyer is always possible. I'll even let the curse and evil spirits go with the place, along with everything but my guns and fishing rods. I'd hope to sell to a young couple with lots of big ideas, so I'll leave the tools, too.

I suppose everyone makes retirement plans. We make them for when we're 65, or in some cases 55. They are always made with knees and backs that are decades younger, and we learn that 65-year-old legs don't live up to the plans we made at 40. I never planned to be doing what I'm doing at age 72. The truth is that I really didn't think that much about it and have never had a plan. Don't have one today, in fact. My strategy hasn't been to plan for, but simply to deal with it, knowing I can't stop what's coming and delaying is mostly a vanity issue. I think it is good to grow old gracefully, if one can avoid falling down.

I shouldn't say I don't have any kind of a plan. Or a dream, perhaps. I'm still holding out hope that any day now, a rich, beautiful woman will come along, fall victim to my charms and wit, and then take me away from all this. I'm bolstered by the recent discovery of survey knowledge that emotional loneliness is on the rise. Unfortunately, a lot of those 401K plans aren't.

I've been told that is a really stupid plan. Compared to what? Working until I'm 120

years old?

Dreaming will give me something to do while I'm waiting. I don't think I'm expecting too much, a rich - beautiful woman to rescue me from myself and a Northern Pike big enough to make a new state record. Ah, to die, but a happy man this time, as opposed to last time. My last photo where I have my arm around one and holding up the other with my other arm.

When I think back, one reason I quit drinking at a relatively young age was the fact that all my favorite bartenders were getting old. I'd go into the saloon and spend lots of money and get drunk, but I ended up listening to all their troubles mostly associated with getting old. Oddly, I don't recall any of my old bartenders talking about plans for when they retired. Maybe they were doing it. Anyway, it seemed all backwards and I wasn't getting any of my problems solved and they seemed to be getting worse, just why I didn't know.

However, when it came time to retire my drinking career, it ended suddenly - sort of like a dead duck landing in a mud puddle. Shortly after I quit drinking, my all-time favorite bartender suddenly died. They said it was his heart, but I think it might have had something to do with him not having anyone to tell his troubles to anymore. Upon reflection, it could have been his heart. He might have done the unthinkable and The House bought a round, something all the regulars thought would be the act that would kill him. It was a question asked often: "Would it kill the House to buy a round?" Another secret gone to the grave.

Pretty much every day, I think about the retirement question. Should I? Can I afford to? Can I afford not to? And the Mother of All questions: What will I do with my time if I don't work? Pathetic and indecisive! The culmination of a life lived through hard times and rough country.

There was a time when I could make a decision, tough or easy, in less time than it takes a buck rabbit to commit to parenthood. Truthfully? Retirement scares me. With good reason? I don't know. I know this. My friend Frank Senn (Beulah Chief of Police) told me this week his father, age 69, retired and suffered a stroke. Fortunately, he was given the medication and treatment necessary and seems to have suffered little to no lasting damage to himself. For that we are grateful.

In recent days, we were notified that one of my best friends and most loyal colleagues and confidants, Kathy Tandberg, recently retired from her job here and moved to Bismarck (you've probably followed her in her weekly column, which she still writes for us) suffered a stroke. At this time, I can't tell you any more. She has been there for me and saved my bacon more times than I can count, and I pray that the woman I lovingly call "the sister I don't fight with" will be blessed with a full recovery. I will believe that God will see fit to reach out and touch her in His grace.

I don't know that retirement has any connection to life's sad events only that happiness seems to be fickle and can be jerked away from us when we are best prepared to welcome and trust it. I am reminded that life isn't about waiting for storms to pass but learning to dance in the rain.

Perhaps, our prayers for our loved ones offer the music to which they find the will to dance.

"WRT is an equal opportunity provider & employer"

• WRT MONTHLY SERVICE RATES: Under the Telecommunications Act of 1996, "universal service" means basic telephone service that is available to all consumers. WRT provides basic and enhanced telecommunications services within its service area. Basic services are offered at the following rates: Single Party Residence & Business Service - $22.50/month. Local residence & business service includes: Voice grade access to the public switched network; flat-rated local exchange service free of per minute charges; access to emergency services such as 911 & enhanced 911; and toll blocking/toll limitation. Broadband internet access service which is the capability to transmit and receive data is available in various packages.

• TELEPHONE ASSISTANCE: WRT also offers the Lifeline telephone assistance program for qualifying low-income subscribers who are not already receiving a Lifeline discount from another provider. Lifeline provides a monthly service discount on eligible telephone or eligible broadband service. To be eligible for Lifeline assistance, an applicant or subscriber, one of their dependents or their household must participate in one or more of the following programs: Medicaid; Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP, formerly Food Stamps); Supplemental Security Income (SSI); Federal Public Housing Assistance; or Veterans & Survivors Pension Benefit. Individuals whose household income is at or below 135% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines are also eligible for Lifeline assistance. Toll blocking at no charge and reduced deposits are also available. Additional Tribal Lifeline and Tribal Link Up support is available to those qualifying individuals living on Tribal Lands. Tribal Lifeline/Link Up provides for additional telephone services discounts, and in addition to the previously cited programs, for those individuals residing on Tribal Lands, participation in the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) general assistance program, Head Start, Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations or Tribal TANF qualifies them for this support. Only eligible consumers may enroll in the Lifeline program. Lifeline applicants must present documentation demonstrating eligibility either through participation in one of the qualifying federal assistance programs or through income-based means. Lifeline recipients are required to recertify their eligibility every year. The Lifeline program is limited to one benefit per household, consisting of either wireline or wireless service. Lifeline is a government benefit program, and consumers who willfully make false statements in order to obtain the benefit can be punished by fine or imprisonment or can be barred from the program.

• NON-DISCRIMINATION STATEMENT: West River Telecommunications Cooperative is an equal opportunity provider and employer. In accordance with Federal civil rights law and U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) civil rights regulations and policies, the USDA, its Agencies, offices, and employees, and institutions participating in or administering USDA programs are prohibited from discriminating based on race, color, national origin, religion, sex, gender identity (including gender expression), sexual orientation, disability, age, marital status, family/parental status, income derived from a public assistance program, political beliefs, or reprisal or retaliation for prior civil rights activity, in any program or activity conducted or funded by USDA (not all bases apply to all programs). Remedies and complaint filing deadlines vary by program or incident. Persons with disabilities who require alternative means of communication for program information (e.g., Braille, large print, audio-tape, American Sign Language, etc.) should contact the responsible Agency or USDA's TARGET Center at (202) 720-2600 (voice and TTY) or contact USDA through the Federal Relay Service at (800) 877-8339. Additionally, program information may be made available in languages other than English. To file a program discrimination complaint, complete the USDA Program Discrimination Complaint Form, AD-3027, found online at How to File a Program Discrimination Complaint and at any USDA office or write a letter addressed to USDA and provide in the letter all of the information requested in the form. To request a copy of the complaint form, call (866) 632-9992. Submit your completed form or letter to USDA by: (1) mail: U.S. Department of Agriculture, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20250-9410; (2) fax: (202) 690-7442; or (3) email: program.intake@usda.gov. USDA is an equal opportunity provider, employer, and lender.

HEALTHY HAPPENINGS

January is Cervical Health Awareness Month

Getting regular screenings for cervical cancer can help find abnormal (changed) cervical cells before they turn into cervical cancer. There are 2 kinds of screening tests that can find abnormal cervical cells: Pap tests, also called Pap smears and HPV (human papillomavirus) tests. Most deaths from cervical cancer can be prevented if women get regular cervical screenings and follow-up care. Schedule your Cervical Cancer Screening today by contacting your local healthcare provider!

Turning 65 – Medicare Basics

Medicare Basics will be held on Monday, January 28, 2019 from 10:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m. in the SMC Conference Room. The session will cover Medicare Terms and Definitions, Medicare Coverage: A, B, C & D, Medicare Initial Visits, Preventative Services, Advance Care Planning and a review of Supplement Plans. This session is FREE and open to the public, please register by calling the NDSU Extension Office at 873-5195.

Go Red for Women - National Wear Red Day is February 1st!

Why Go Red? Heart disease and stroke cause 1 in 3 deaths among women each year, killing approximately one woman every 80 seconds. Fortunately, we have the power to change that because 80 percent of cardiac and stroke events may be prevented with education and action. That's why you are encouraged to wear red on National Wear Red Day and encourage others to do the same and take the time to Know Your Numbers. Five numbers, all women should know to take control of their heart health are: Total Cholesterol, HDL (good) Cholesterol, Blood Pressure, Blood Sugar and Body Mass Index (BMI). Knowing these numbers can help women and their healthcare provider determine their risk for developing cardiovascular diseases

Love Lights Are Shining

The lights on this tree have been lit to honor and memorialize special people in our lives. The colored lights are in honor of, the clear lights are in memory of and the blue lights recognize the victims of domestic and sexual violence. The angel on the top of the tree was given in memory of Elda Drath Baisch. The Hospital Auxiliary thanks all the individuals who supported the love lights this year by their donations and to the sponsors who make it possible for us to publish the names. May you have a blessed New Year.

57 bulbs are lit this year by WARC In recognition of the victims of sexual abuse and domestic violenc in Mercer County in the past year.

Trophy Mule Deer Poached in Mercer County; Warden Seeks Information

North Dakota Game and Fish Department district game warden Kylor Johnston is searching for answers in the illegal taking of a trophy mule deer buck on Coteau Properties, in Mercer County.

Johnston said he observed the dead deer in a stubble field Sunday Morning while on patrol. The deer was located west of County Road 21 just north of the mine haul road (approx. 7.5 miles North of Beulah), and by all indications the deer was shot the night of January 12-13th.

The deer was taken outside of a legal hunting season, and left to waste.

Anyone with information who wants to remain anonymous is asked to call the Report All Poachers telephone number at 800-472-2121. Also, callers can contact Johnston directly at 701-870-2729.

The RAP line offers rewards for information that leads to conviction of fish and wildlife law violators.

This will be our final bull sale ...

After much thought and soul searching, we have decided this will be our last bull sale. We will remain in the purebred Angus business, but will find alternative marketing options for our bulls and females.

We appreciate your dedication to the Reich Angus program the past 20 years and value the friendships and partnerships that we have gained. Your support and trust in our genetics will always be cherished.

Please join us on Saturday, Feb. 16, for our 20th Annual – and final – Bull Sale.
