So, what would Jesus do about it?

I have in front of me some information released by the Three Affiliated Tribes Mandan, Hidatsa and Arikara Nation. Let me share what I think are some thoughts to ponder.

The Nation had a total of 16 thousand two hundred and fifteen members as of November 2018. Of that number there were 1,389 over age 60, known as the Elders. The average life span of a male tribal member is placed at 56.37 years, about ten years longer for a female. What I find interesting about this male number is that that life expectancy is comparable to the males who surrounded Jesus back in his day, which was quite a few days ago. The tribes of Israel and the tribes of the MHA nation appear to have something in common. There seems to be a lack of statistics dealing with how long Natives lived at this present location in the days of Jesus. I don't have the stats in front of me, but I believe life expectancy for white males here is about a decade or more longer.

Some rough math suggests that about eight percent of the Nation's people live to be Elders or over 60 years of age. The numbers support my position that it isn't easy getting to be an old Indian. I've defied the odds a few different times and ways to live to be 72 at this writing. Over the years there have been some questions about whether my mixed Indian and White blood made me "too" White. I'm going way out on a limb and suggesting that my survival may indicate that in terms of being White, I'm about the right amount. Actually, I'm here because I changed a bad lifestyle some years ago, one that was not the blame of my father or my mother or my blood. Oh, I've wished I had an excuse, but I don't. My various bloodlines didn't show up in me, but stupid sure did. Some think stupid still rules my day. As a great philosopher once said, "Oh, well!"

TRACKS IN THE SAND

KEN BEAUCHAMP

You're never too old. When I say things like what this headline says, I can hear my late auntie Lillian Little Soldier Klautd preparing a good scolding for me. Lillian, her husband Reinhold and their children made up the gospel group known nationally and internationally as the "Klautd Indian Family." The family celebrates its 100th anniversary, although the family no longer performs and some are gone. The youngest son, Ken, who lives with his wife and son in Georgia, appears to have taken over the responsibility of my self correction process, which makes me remind him that if not for my good sense he would have died in the North Dakota snow a few years ago. Thanks to me and a pig that gave up a heart valve, he's 79 and not kicking but shuffling along nicely. Probably got just the right amount of white blood from his daddy, who is the center of a story that will make you pause in amazement, and we're hoping to bring that entire family story along with the story of Lillian's mother to you - if that pig valve holds out long enough. It is a story about Christianity, faith and perseverance that is truly, I think, inspiring to hear or read. It's a story that tells about the reservation where Lillian grew up, the conversion to Christianity through the Church of England, the Russian Revolution and includes a little Walt Disney, Gene Autry and Little Beaver. My sincere hope is to bring it to you before I expire and become part of another statistic.

Side note: I left the state of Georgia in 1967, after a short visit sponsored by the U. S. Army and vowed never to return, outdoing General Douglas MacArthur in enthusiasm for a pledge. The youngest of the Klautd clan has tried to lure me to Georgia, even bribing me with promises of things like introducing me to his near and dear friend Dolly Parton and her personal tour of Dollyland. Oh, for a midnight train to Georgia. When I cleaned up my unhealthy lifestyle, I gave up booze, not blondes. For some reason I can't grasp, I find myself running that song lyric, "There's no fool, like an old fool" over and over some days. But, I rejoice in another lyric from that same song that goes, "If you had to leave me, why'd you leave me, for an older man." Yes! I can hear Aunt Lillian warming up. Give her an "amen." My own grandmother probably shakes her head so hard her halo falls off and declares, "That kid shows no evidence of Mission Influence what-so-ever-at-all!" Black sheep do tend to father black sheep, Grandma. My auntie's got all that. Dad's sisters were both North Dakota "Mothers of the Year." I don't think Dad was overly impressed. I thought about working toward "Father of the Year." Until the second son arrived, and I just got over that.

My sons get accused of being "just like their father." I have heard that wives of their friends have been known to scream out at their husbands, "you're just like (put a son's name here) father!" Is there a contest for "Man Who Ruined the World?"

Anyway, I don't know what Jesus would do. But I think I just heard him say "Shut up!" Gotcha.

GIVING PATIENTS THE TOOLS TO BE HEALTHIER

Epic

PLEASE BE PATIENT WITH US!

Effective April 1st, Sakakawea Medical Center and Coal Country Community Health Center will initiate Epic, a new Electronic Medical Record.

During the initial conversion to Epic, the registration process and patient visits may take longer than normally expected. Please come to your appointments early to allow additional time for the registration process and if possible, bring the following information with you:

- Insurance Cards to include Medicare and Medicaid
- Driver's License or official identification
- List of medications including prescriptions, vitamins and over-the-counter medications
- If known, past medical history to include surgeries and immunizations

In addition, throughout this transition, patients could receive multiple billing statements; some through the current systems at both SMC and CCCHC and the additional statements for services provided after April 1st. Please be patient with us as we work through the initial glitches that may be encountered during the implementation of the new electronic medical record.

Sakakawea Medical Center complies with applicable Federal civil rights laws and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, disability, or sex. CCCHC is funding the conversion of their electronic medical record system to Epic in part with Federal grant funds. The total cost of the project is estimated at $461K with 39% paid with Federal grant funds and 61% paid from non-governmental sources. Any funds required above the total cost estimate will be paid from CCCHC reserves and other non-governmental sources.
