Pastor Tom's farewell to Mercer County

By KATE JOHNSON

"I don't want people to misunderstand...God called us there, that's the only way I can describe it," said Pastor Tom Olson at the thought of leaving his congregations.

Tom has been a pastor for 10 years in Beulah. Throughout the last decade, his work has primarily been focused on Golden Valley, Dodge and Zap churches. Although he is well known throughout Mercer County as a pastor, farmer, rancher, friend, coach, referee and father.

Tom was 34 years-old when he was called to ministry. He grew up farming with his parents, and when his father went into ministry, he took over the family farm. Just one year later, Tom married his wife Beth, and they began farming together in 1999.

Soon enough, Tom felt the call from God also, just as his father did. However, he began to struggle and said he often asked God if He had the right man. "I like farming. I enjoy it, and He just gently told me 'I don't ask you to understand, just trust me, Tom'," said Tom.

Tom sold all his farming equipment and tools, packed up his then family of six (Isak, Kelvin, Kiana and Josiah) and moved to Plymouth, Minn. to attend seminary school - Association Free Lutheran Theological Seminary (AFLTS) in 2006.

Tom knew the Bible; he had preached a little and taught Bible school, so he thought he was well prepared for seminary school. Tom said he was very mistaken with that thought.

"You learn how to create good patterns of studying... it was a fantastic time to learn and grow," said Tom. While in seminary school, he and Beth had their fifth child, Karina.

Come March 2009, Tom was assigned an internship in Mercer County, which spanned four churches: Prince of Peace, Beulah; Immanuel Lutheran, Zap; Gol-gatha Lutheran, Golden Valley and St. Paul, Dodge.

His family of now seven packed up their things and started the move to Beulah. Upon arriving Tom said there were people from Beulah, Zap, Golden Valley and Dodge all awaiting their arrival to help them move, unpack and feed them. "We instantly knew we were in a good place," said Tom.

Once in Mercer County, Beth gave birth to their sixth child, Jana. Partially through Tom's internship in the area, a retirement was announced for the Golden Valley Parish and Tom was approached if he would be the new pastor. However, he had to wait until his internship was completed.

In March of 2010, Tom eagerly accepted their request to be their pastor. Tom said the communities have always been so generous and kind to him and his family. "We've lived here for 10 years in an eight person household, and we have bought meat maybe twice," said Tom in astonish-

“To realize that I am a human man preaching God's word is both humbling and an honor.”
- Pastor Tom Olson

He said there has never been a time they have been without because of the constant bountiful love and support they received.

Although Tom said he and his family knew little to nothing of Beulah and Mercer County, he was able to find a home where he could combine his passions: ministry and ranching.

He has spent his time not only preparing sermons for Sunday church, centennials, funerals or confirmation but also helping ranchers brand, herd cattle, fix fences or bale a field.

He said in his short 10 years, he has seen more people come together in times of need - helping each other - and that is some of the most precious memories for him.

Tom said God is who brought him to ministry and is also the reason he came to Mercer County; and now He is also the reason he is being called to go.

He heard Enderlin, North Dakota come across his ears and it became a constant call. He will be the pastor at Hope AFLC.

Tom said it is hard to leave the people he and his family have come to know and love - the people he has seen their faith grow or come to find Jesus.

"To realize that I am a human man preaching God's word is both humbling and an honor. To be handling the word of God is quite a deal, so yes, there is some trembling there, but at the same time I like to be close to the people," said Tom.

Tom said it is the words that do the work and he just delivers them. He hopes that his congregation that he is leaving behind trusts in those words.

His hope is that whoever comes behind him is seen as preaching from the same Bible as he did.

knows this is where he is meant to go, even through the level of difficulty it is to leave.

Pastor Tom is having a send off lunch held at Dodge City Hall, Sunday, Aug. 25 at 12:15p.m. CDT.

"I would like for them to trust the word to get them home to Heaven and to know that Jesus loves them, and I love them too... to trust in God's word and

Some things you just don't say to Mom

That's correct. Some things you just don't say to Mom. But, the most clever, thoughtful, polite, conniving kid will, one day, inevitably drop the ol' guard, have a brain tooter, or just get careless. Yes, every kid will say to their Mom, those words of mass destruction, "There's nothing to do!" This is normally whined and not spoken. These words will make Mom the happiest she's been since her 45th birthday, when the doctor said, "You're not pregnant." No need for abortion of a baby, or the murder of a husband. Just a kid with nothing to do. She has a clear conscience and a kid standing there like a blessing straight from Heaven. I'm just guessing but these must be the times when it is good to be a mom.

Even though I am something of a great philosopher, I cannot speak to the world in general. However, I do believe that, to any mother, there is no such existing condition as "nothing to do." Evidence to support that may be in the fact that no one has ever heard their Mom say, with great sympathy, "Oh my, that is too bad, you poor little dear!" If I'm wrong, please contact me with information on how to become your mother's favorite son. It doesn't have to be a costly or formal taking to bosom.

My experience has been, you just never mutter those words. Don't even stand close to a kid who is about to test time proven misery and say those words. More innocent, well, nearly innocent, by-standers have been victim to standing too close to a loose mouth than anyone cares to count. Maybe that's why no one has ever bothered to take a tally.

I can't say about these days, 'cause I can't recall the last time I saw a kid working, unless it was on a job for union wages. However, in another time, long, long ago, these "Mass Bossings," where a mom would hear her kid whine and proceed to bag whatever body count couldn't scurry away fast enough and order them to work at anything, happened quite often. As in every day. Barnum was right about the birth cycle of suckers and fools were a step ahead of that.

You probably remember all that talk about "shovel ready" projects. You know those important infrastructure jobs that were going to get built in exchange for the big government bailout of certain people a few years ago. It failed miserably. Know why? Let me tell you.

They did not have a mom

TRACKS IN THE SAND KEN BEAUCHAMP

in charge of the programs. The first person who got money and then showed up and said "There's nothing to do!"...well, they'd still be doing it, at least until they got it right. Trust me. If they had a mother who grew up in the Twenties and survived the Dirty Thirties with a family to feed, them there shovels would have been moving, and that shovel ready dirt would have been flying. And, anyone who didn't want to work, well, they wouldn't have had to wait for the President to get home. Nope. Shovel handles have many uses and can be more motivational than a fiery preacher filled with the Holy Spirit.

Maybe, if they had been forced to share some work, rather than playing with their technology, this group of Americans, known as "The Millennials" would not be so sad and be able to claim to at least have a few passers-by, if not any actual friends. I mean, would you, if you were me, want a Millennial standing beside you just prior to getting a hard labor sentence from your mom? Oh, Lord!

There, I have now very likely offended everyone with the exception of the babies born this morning. Or those yet unborn. That's a pretty good day. Even for me. Sometimes, I remind myself of the guy whom I described as more embarrassing than a case of Walking Farts in the shopping mall. Or the buffet line.

My mom really did love me, in spite of the horrible things I credit to her. She always knew just how to make me feel secure when I was lonely. Yes, sir, she would look at my long, sad, little face and say, "Don't feel bad. Momma will find something for you to do!" And just like that, I'd be up and smiling and running...

I've been credited with being fairly fast of foot for a fat guy. I attribute that to my mom. You learned there was a time to disappear. And fast. Her T-shirt slogan could have been "You dawdle, you dig!" My mom seemed to really love to dig...and watch others do the same. I sometimes wonder if her side of the family didn't evolve from badgers. It was noticeable in her behavior and her temperament. The latter not all the time. Just sometimes. That is, as they say, another story and I'm out of room here. If you can, go ahead and hug your mom for me. And keep quiet!
