Longtime friends win the 25th Annual DWC

By JERICK TAFOYA

This year's winners have been friends for over a decade.

Ryan Subart and Chris Hustad, Team 118, led after day one with a total of 22.54 pounds. With their different specialties, they made quite the tandem. Hustad is an accomplished crank baiting fisherman. Subart is more of a live baiting fisherman.

So going into the second day, they maintained their confidence.

Subart said, "There's a lot of good fishermen in the tournament that were right behind us. We were feeling the pressure for sure. But we felt very confident."

Hustad added, "We recognized most of the names in the top ten. These are consistent guys. These guys are near the top 10."

Prior to the tournament, Hustad had his kids do some pre-fishing in the area.

Subart commented, "They were all nice fish – 20 to 22 inches. We'd seen the wind predictions for the next four days – the wind was blowing over there."

First place, Team 118. Chris Hustad and Ryan Subart with a total weight of 38.90 pounds.

The duo used Subart's recently purchased 622 Ranger.

Subart noted, "I just purchased it this year from Moritz Sport and Marine.

The technology on it definitely helped us out."

On day two, the tandem had a slightly smaller weight total with 16.36 pounds. They were able to secure their victory with a 3.88 pound cushion over the second place team.

And both men want use some of their winnings for their wives. In fact, after his wife let him fish in so many tournaments, Subart said he definitely wants to give some of his winnings to his wife.

Subart said, "You know, make sure you take care of the wives. I think Chris would say the same thing. They do put up with us."

Hustad agreed, "Like Ryan said, whatever the wife thinks. I'll just let her do what she feels is necessary."

But there is one specific thing Hustad wanted to get with his winnings.

Hustad added, "I'm actually getting a new graph for my boat which is much needed."

Both men commented on the incredible amount of support they received not only from their hosts but the DWC volunteer staff as well.

Unfortunately for them, all the camping spots got taken. But the team was invited to stay at a cabin by Doug and Joe Woehl.

What awaited them was air conditioning, hot showers, great meals, and coffee at five in the morning.

Hustad said, "Amazing hosts. I didn't have to worry about accommodations. I just had to focus on fishing. It really helped us get through the week."

Subart spoke of the 65-75 DWC volunteers that were present for the two-day event.

"The volunteer staff at the Dakota Walleye Classic is second to none. They're very friendly. They were giving me high fives during the weigh ins. That's what's fun is the camaraderie," Subart said.
