Happy New Year resolutions

I say Happy New Year resolutions for a good reason. Let's make our resolutions happy. Everyone wants to start the year losing weight, running a marathon, filling in an artistic bullet journal, eating healthy, planting a garden, learning how to paint, you know. Me, I get the urge to clean and declutter my house. It is to no avail. Somehow every year, I start with this - "I'm going to use up all my yarn and not buy anymore unless it is for a specific use. No more buying on sale and stashing it away for another day."

I have been known to save yarn, buttons, etc., that are special to me for something special. Guess what? The day never comes. Every day should be special for us. We woke up, and our families are safe, and we have jobs to go to and work to do and money to buy food and drinking water that flows from the tap, clean and cold (or hot). Think about how many people in the world cannot say that.

So, again I fill in my first month of the year in my bullet journal. Yes, I keep one, and it's handy and fun, but it doesn't look anything at all like the Pinterest photos of fancy lettering and watercolor illustrations. My old-handwriting (I use a mechanical pencil cause I love pencils) and maybe some taped notes or pieces of paper.

It works. I can write stuff down that clogs my brain when it should be focused on things elsewhere. I do grocery lists and calendar events and reminders to pay bills and stuff - line items next to bullet dots. I have never been very good at writing on the line, just like my garden rows all over the place - big letters, little letters, printed letters, cursive letters. Anything goes. The reason for that is if I wait to be as perfect as the journal pages on Pinterest, I never put pen to paper. That defeats the purpose.

So, the rest of the house gets a once over big time. You know, fan blades, move large pieces of furniture, light fixtures and desk drawers. Granted, it's not as thorough as I would like, but what's the point?

It just gets dirty again anyway.

Now, there are the bathrooms. Showers, in particular, are challenging to clean once they are more than a year old. I have a friend that cleans for a living, and she gave me this recipe for a cleaner that I have begun to use in the whole bathroom.

I'm susceptible to chemical smells and things that give my sensitive skin a rash. I usually wear a mask and turn the fan on and open the windows to use most chemical cleaners. So, this recipe, my friends, is a god-send.

SHOWER CLEANER

1 cup vinegar, heat in the microwave
1/2 to 1 cup Dawn original dish soap, the blue stuff
1 spray bottle, glass or plastic

Put the Dawn in the bottle, add the hot vinegar and mix. Spray on the dry shower and allow to rest. Then go to work. The scum lifts, and the shower looks brand new. I also have started using a squeegee in the shower to eliminate droplets.

This cleaner is amazing, and your bathroom smells like you are canning pickles.

To dust, I found this recipe to use instead of toxic sprays. One time my spouse brought an anti-allergen dusting spray home that just about threw me into antiphallic shock - not kidding about my sensitivity. So, I sprayed it into the atmosphere; sorry about that, I didn't know how to get rid of it and replace it with yet another spray bottle from the big box store with this recipe in it.

DUSTING SPRAY

1 cup water
1/4 cup vinegar
2 tablespoons olive oil
Lemongrass essential oil, optional

Mix and spray
There are many more cleaning recipes out there in the world of Google if you are also interested in homemade laundry soap or a general cleaner. Using baking soda and peroxide or vinegar really does work on glass top stoves and inside the oven also. These cleaners are so much better for you, your family, your pets and the world. So resolve to try an inexpensive household cleaner when you do your spring house-cleaning.

MONTHLY SERVICE RATES: Under the Telecommunications Act of 1996, "universal service" means basic telephone service that is available to all consumers. WRT provides basic and enhanced telecommunications services within its service area. Basic services are offered at the following rates: Single Party Residence & Business Service - $22.50/mo. Local residence & business service includes: Voice grade access to the public switched network, flat-rated local exchange service free of per minute charges; access to emergency services such as 911 & enhanced 911; and toll blocking/toll limitation. Broadband internet access service which is the capability to transmit and receive data is available in various packages.

BATTERY NOTICE: When WRT installs fiber optics, we offer to install a battery backup unit (at no extra fee) - as fiber needs power to operate. If your electricity fails, the backup unit will power the equipment & provide voice service for approx. 8 hours. WRT offers additional battery packs to extend the length of voice service and provide internet service backup - for $2/mo. Please keep in mind these basic emergency tips: 1) Keep at least one basic CORDED phone on hand to use in case of power outages, as cordless use additional power. 2) If you have a generator, make sure the battery backup unit is plugged into an outlet that is served by the generator. 3) Periodically check the indicator light on your battery backup unit to see if it is getting low or out of charge. Batteries should be stored above 41° F and below 104° F. General battery life is 2-4 years, pending usage & storage conditions and have a limited 3-year manufacturer's warranty. If you have any questions or would like to extend your battery backup time, call WRT at 701-748-2211.

ASSISTANCE: WRT also offers the Lifeline telephone assistance program for qualifying low-income subscribers who are not already receiving a Lifeline discount from another provider. Lifeline provides a monthly service discount on eligible telephone or eligible broadband service. To be eligible for Lifeline assistance, an applicant or subscriber, one of their dependents or their household must participate in one or more of the following programs: Medicaid; Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP, formerly Food Stamps); Supplemental Security Income (SSI); Federal Public Housing Assistance; or Veterans & Survivors Pension Benefit. Individuals whose household income is at or below 135% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines are also eligible for Lifeline assistance. Toll blocking at no charge and reduced deposits are also available. Additional Tribal Lifeline and Tribal Link Up support is available to those qualifying individuals living on Tribal Lands. Tribal Lifeline/Link Up provides for additional telephone services discounts, and in addition to the previously cited programs, for those individuals residing on Tribal Lands, participation in the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) general assistance program, Head Start, Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations or Tribal TANF qualifies them for this support. Only eligible consumers may enroll in the Lifeline program. Lifeline applicants must present documentation demonstrating eligibility either through participation in one of the qualifying federal assistance programs or through income-based means. Lifeline recipients are required to reverify their eligibility every year. The Lifeline program is limited to one benefit per household, consisting of either wireline or wireless service. Lifeline is a government benefit program, and consumers who willfully make false statements in order to obtain the benefit can be punished by fine or imprisonment or can be barred from the program.

NON-DISCRIMINATION STATEMENT: West River Telecommunications Cooperative is an equal opportunity provider and employer. In accordance with Federal civil rights law and U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) civil rights regulations and policies, the USDA, its Agencies, offices, and employees, and institutions participating in or administering USDA programs are prohibited from discriminating based on race, color, national origin, religion, sex, gender identity (including gender expression), sexual orientation, disability, age, marital status, family/parental status, income derived from a public assistance program, political beliefs, or reprisal or retaliation for prior civil rights activity, in any program or activity conducted or funded by USDA (not all bases apply to all programs). Remedies and complaint filing deadlines vary by program or incident. Persons with disabilities who require alternative means of communication for program information (e.g., Braille, large print, audiotape, American Sign Language, etc.) should contact the responsible Agency or USDA's TARGET Center at (202) 720-2600 (voice and TTY) or contact USDA through the Federal Relay Service at (800) 877-8339. Additionally, program information may be made available in languages other than English. To file a program discrimination complaint, complete the USDA Program Discrimination Complaint Form, AD-3027, found online at <https://www.usda.gov/oascr/how-to-file-a-program-discrimination-complaint> and at any USDA office or write a letter addressed to USDA and provide in the letter all of the information requested in the form. To request a copy of the complaint form, call (866) 632-9992. Submit your completed form or letter to USDA by: (1) mail: U.S. Department of Agriculture, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20250-9410; (2) fax: (202) 690-7442; or (3) email: program.intake@usda.gov. HEALTHY HAPPENINGS

Drive-Thru COVID-19 Testing: January 11
Free COVID-19 testing will be offered on Monday, January 11 in the WRT garage in Hazen on the corner of 1st St SW and Central Ave., Hazen. Testing will be offered from 11 a.m. to 12 p.m. Those wanting to be tested are asked to enter from 3rd Avenue and form a line on 1st Street. Pre-registration at testreg.nd.gov is strongly recommended. January is Cervical Health Awareness Month
Stop cervical cancer in its tracks. Access to quality, affordable health care is critical for cancer prevention. Don't let costs come between you and getting screened for cervical cancer. CCCHC sees all people regardless of their ability to pay. Call or visit today to learn about our sliding fee scale!

January is National Radon Action Month
Radon is a colorless, odorless, radioactive gas that occurs naturally from the breakdown of uranium. You can't see or smell it; testing is the only way to know your level of exposure. Radon has been found to be the leading cause of lung cancer among nonsmokers. The gas enters through cracks in homes, buildings and schools and exposes people to the radiation. Testing is easy and inexpensive. Radon test kits may be obtained at your local Custer Health office, hardware store, online or at the American Lung Association of ND.

Stalking Awareness Month

If you are a stalking victim:

- Keep a stalking incident log, noting the time, place, and details of each stalking incident.
- Screenshot text messages and save voicemails, letters, emails, and/or gifts for evidence.
- Learn about online harassment - TechSafetyApp.org is a great resource!
- Contact WARC or your local law enforcement to develop a safety plan.

What is stalking?

- Unwanted contact with you or your loved ones
- Spreading rumors
- Following or spying
- Showing up at work, school, or home
- Leaving unwanted gifts
- Refusing to accept rejection

Stalking is dangerous and common.

- 1 in 6 women and 1 in 17 men will experience stalking in their lifetimes
- 1 in 3 stalkers are physically violent
- The average length of a stalking case is just over 2 years.
- The overwhelming majority - 84% - of victims know their stalker.

& Human Trafficking Prevention Month

Human trafficking is everywhere - even here.

- More than 40 million people are exploited every year.
- Human trafficking includes sex trafficking, unpaid labor, domestic servitude, or forced marriage.
- Since 2015, WARC has helped 8 victims of human trafficking from our area alone.
- Last year, the ND Attorney General's Human Trafficking Task Force helped 114 victims - 80% of whom were from North Dakota.

WARC's resources & services are available to all, regardless of race, religion, immigration status, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, or income.

Takeaways from 2020

The ball had dropped, the calendar had turned. 2020 was officially in the rear-view mirror. As I made my way through the field-side tree rows and up the winding draws, however, the year did not seem over until I returned to the truck on the final day of the upland hunting season. In tow were a pair of rooster pheasants that held tight in the brush, with the unseasonably warm southerly gales giving the auditory cover for my dog and I to get close enough for the final shots of the season. It was a memorable trip, and unlike most other adventures with the shotgun in hand this season, a fairly accurate outing. The setting sun signaled the official completion of the previous hunting year, even if its terminus was a few days later than the end of the calendar year. Whether they were my last birds of the fall of 2020 or my first birds of 2021 really didn't matter, though. They served as a reminder on the importance of just being outside.

This year, more people than in recent memory availed themselves of the outdoors. From early discussions, it's likely that numbers from many agencies across the nation will show upticks from five to 25 percent or more across all pursuits in terms of license sales. With all that was going on - the stress, the quarantine time, or perhaps the sudden surge of hours away from work, which left a gaping hole in many people's schedules and likely their psyches - it was easy to understand why. While my passion requires me to be out there, I too felt those pressures and again turned to the outdoors in 2020 to find respite from a world which seemed to have run amok. From the orange vests that dotted the countryside in the fall to the bundled-up anglers along the just-opening shores of spring waterways, I saw thousands of others who did as well.

Additionally, those people brought people with them. Older family members, young children, friends from within their personal bubble and likely those from outside of it.

As difficult as the previous year was for many reasons, it was important to the future of the outdoors and the pastimes and passions of hunting and fishing. It served to not only highlight the need for increased conservation which preserves clean waters and strong habitat for fish and game, but also to stress the requirement of access to those resources for the people seeking them, including those whose love of the outdoors was ignited for the first time or re-kindled due to the circumstances.

Where the future of hunting and fishing goes from here depends on where those people go. Life will undoubtedly return to normal or at least something similar to it in the coming months and all those things from the time before 2020 will likely come back, calling for our attention. It's up to us as the sporting public to continue to foster use and enjoyment of the outdoors and to keep inviting - and more importantly, taking - new and returning hunters and anglers into the field and on the water. Through these actions we build on what was likely the best aspect of what many have dubbed the
