Stories you may have missed in last week's BHG newspapers

Feeding those in need

A group of about one dozen students from Nichole Beyer's third grade class from Bob Callies Elementary School marked down the Main Street sidewalk, ready to help at the Garrison Area Resource Center.

And Dawn Kolden, coordinator of GARC's food pantry, was ready for them.

Kolden had smaller tubs, filled with non-perishable food items, ready to go for the elementary students. The items contained in the tubs included small boxes of cereal, fruit cups and snacks.

The students would be tasked with helping to fill these bags. During GARC's distribution day, these bags would be given out as part of the Little Lunches Program.

McLean County Independent

Wind on the horizon

Previously untouched by wind turbine farms, McLean County is expected to soon host the largest wind energy project in the state.

Great River Energy, the Minnesota-based owner of Coal Creek Station, announced Tuesday its intent to establish a partnership for a 400-megawatt wind project to be located in the vicinity of the Underwood-area coal plant.

"Great River Energy has reached an agreement in principle with Apex Clean Energy to receive renewable energy from a 400-megawatt (MW) wind energy project in McLean County, North Dakota," GRE said in a press release.

The project would utilize Coal Creek Station's connected high-voltage direct current transmission (HVDC) line, which is set to be purchased by Nexus Line before May 1 of this year. The transmission line acquisition is in association with the purchase of Coal Creek Station by Rainbow Energy.

Washburn Ambulance secures full-time paramedic

As rural communities find it increasingly harder to hire qualified emergency medical technicians (EMTs), the Washburn Ambulance Service has recently added veteran paramedic Keith Hapip Jr. to the mix as a full-time contributor.

Shortly after moving to Washburn in 2019, the happily married father of one began volunteering with the local ambulance corps, while serving as a weekend paramedic in Standing Rock, and also moonlighting as a wood-carving entrepreneur from his home basement.

But as a result of now being a full-time employee in Washburn, Hapip will no longer be subjected to weekly 140-mile car trips to the reservation town situated at the border of North Dakota and South Dakota.

The transition, says the 31-year-old, has been a "blessing," in that he can now continue offering Washburn and its surrounding areas his life-support services four days a week, with the added bonus of working shoulder-to-shoulder with highly-skilled medical professionals with decades of experience.

Enjoy the Health Benefits of Music

PRAIRIE FARE

By Julie Garden-Robinson, Food and Nutrition Specialist NDSU Extension

"Did you crank up the music?" my friend asked.

"No. Music distracts me when I am writing," I said. "I tend to focus on the music."

I was alone in my work office finishing up some projects. No one else was in the building. Maybe instrumental music would have been OK.

If I had been cleaning my office, energetic music would have motivated me.

The clicking sound of my keyboard punctuated the silence. After I finished my projects, I tuned my radio to celebratory tunes on my drive home.

Music has always been part of my life. A few years ago, I joined a community band, and the members range in age from about 24 to 94. This experience has convinced me that I will aspire keep playing my flute for sheer enjoyment and also for its many benefits.

Unfortunately, the 2020 pandemic was not a good year for our band. We took the year off from playing.

Singing and playing some musical instruments in particular can release aerosols, which is a concern for spreading COVID-19. Trumpets, oboes, trombones and clarinets generated the most aerosols according to a study by the University of Minnesota.

In 2021, we were back playing. I want to be able to move my fingers, have the breath control to make a pleasant sound, and an agile brain to count the rhythm and follow a conductor's lead.

After all, who wants to be the person in the band who plays a few notes after a piece ends?

Did you take piano lessons or play in a band as a child? If an instrument is available, remember it is never too late to learn a new skill or renew an old skill.

From infancy to advanced age, music has physical and psychological benefits. Some of music's effect on health is related to the brain, but music's effects are far-reaching.

Music can promote relaxation and improve our mood. In fact, depending on the music, your heart rate and your blood pressure may decrease as you relax to music. Stress hormones decrease as we relax.

Music can motivate people in their workout routines, whether you are walking briskly or dancing.

In fact, dancing to music is not only a good workout for the heart. It also is a workout for the brain as you learn foot patterns.

Some researchers have shown that music may have benefits for people with various health conditions. For example, patients with Parkinson's Disease have shown improvements in their ability to speak, swallow and manage their breath control when they participate in singing.

Premature infants in the hospital have shown improvements when music is part of their therapy. Listening to someone singing was particularly helpful for the premature infants.

For children, playing a musical instrument tends to improve school performance in a variety of subjects. Music teaches you to listen closely.

For people with long-term illnesses, music can divert your brain from focusing on the pain. It also can conjure memories of happy times, especially for people with dementia or Alzheimer's disease.

Put on some music as you enjoy a meal. The volume and tempo, or speed, of music influences how quickly or slowly we eat. Listening to soft music may help us eat more mindfully and enjoy each bite. We might eat less as a result.

During the holidays, my college-aged daughter invited several friends over for a visit.

They arrived with musical gaming equipment. I didn't know what foods to make for them, but these Sheet Pan Nachos were a big hit. Some Mexican fiesta music would have been ideal, but I stayed out of the way of the group of teens.

This recipe is courtesy of Texas A&M AgriLife Extension.

Sheet Pan Nachos with Chipotle Sauce

Step 1. Preheat oven to 375 F. Make meat mixture: Cook ground beef with onion until meat is well browned and reaches an internal temperature of 160 F. Drain excess fat. If you like crisp onions, add them after cooking the meat. Add remaining meat mixture ingredients.

Meat Mixture
1 pound 90 to 93% lean ground beef, cooked
1 cup onion, chopped
1 teaspoon garlic powder
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 (15-ounce) can black beans, rinsed and drained

Step 2. Cover a sheet pan with aluminum foil and add 13 ounces of corn tortilla chips.

Step 3. Prepare toppings.
1 cup Roma tomatoes, diced (or substitute favorite ripe tomato)

1/2 cup green onion tips, diced
1 cup yellow bell pepper, diced

1/3 cup cilantro, chopped
2 cups nonfat mozzarella, shredded (or other cheese)

Step 4. Prepare sauce.
1/2 cup Greek yogurt, plain, nonfat

1 tablespoon fresh lime juice
1-2 tablespoons canned chipotle peppers in adobo sauce, diced (available in Mexican food aisle in some stores) or substitute picante sauce or salsa

Distribute the meat mixture evenly over the chips, then top with tomatoes, other toppings and cheese. Place the baking sheet in the oven and bake until cheese is melted, 15 to 20

MONTHLY SERVICE RATES: Under the Telecommunications Act of 1996, "universal service" means basic telephone service that is available to all consumers. WRT provides basic and enhanced telecommunications services within its service area. Basic services are offered at the following rates: Single Party Residence & Business Service - $22.50/mo. Local residence & business service includes: Voice grade access to the public switched network; flat-rated local exchange service free of per minute charges; access to emergency services such as 911 & enhanced 911; and toll blocking/toll limitation. Broadband internet access service which is the capability to transmit and receive data is available in various packages.

BATTERY NOTICE: When WRT installs fiber optics, we offer to install a battery backup unit (at no extra fee) - as fiber needs power to operate. If your electricity fails, the backup unit will power the equipment & provide voice service for approx. 8 hours. WRT offers additional battery packs to extend the length of voice service and provide internet service backup - for $2/mo. Please keep in mind these basic emergency tips: 1) Keep at least one basic CORDED phone on hand to use in case of power outages, as cordless use additional power. 2) If you have a generator, make sure the battery backup unit is plugged into an outlet that is served by the generator. 3) Periodically check the indicator light on your battery backup unit to see if it is getting low or out of charge. Batteries should be stored above 41° F and below 104° F. General battery life is 2-4 years, pending usage & storage conditions and have a limited 3-year manufacturer's warranty. If you have any questions or would like to extend your battery backup time, call WRT at 701-748-2211.

ASSISTANCE: WRT also offers the Lifeline telephone assistance program for qualifying low-income subscribers who are not already receiving a Lifeline discount from another provider. Lifeline provides a monthly service discount on eligible telephone or eligible broadband service. To be eligible for Lifeline assistance, an applicant or subscriber, one of their dependents or their household must participate in one or more of the following programs: Medicaid; Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP, formerly Food Stamps); Supplemental Security Income (SSI); Federal Public Housing Assistance; or Veterans & Survivors Pension Benefit. Individuals whose household income is at or below 135% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines are also eligible for Lifeline assistance. Toll blocking at no charge and reduced deposits are also available. Additional Tribal Lifeline and Tribal Link Up support is available to those qualifying individuals living on Tribal Lands. Tribal Lifeline/Link Up provides for additional telephone services discounts, and in addition to the previously cited programs, for those individuals residing on Tribal Lands, participation in the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) general assistance program, Head Start, Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations or Tribal TANF qualifies them for this support. Only eligible consumers may enroll in the Lifeline program. Lifeline applicants must present documentation demonstrating eligibility either through participation in one of the qualifying federal assistance programs or through income-based means. Lifeline recipients are required to recertify their eligibility every year. The Lifeline program is limited to one benefit per household, consisting of either wireline or wireless service. Lifeline is a government benefit program, and consumers who willfully make false statements in order to obtain the benefit can be punished by fine or imprisonment or can be barred from the program.

NON-DISCRIMINATION STATEMENT: West River Telecommunications Cooperative is an equal opportunity provider and employer. In accordance with Federal civil rights law and U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) civil rights regulations and policies, the USDA, its Agencies, offices, and employees, and institutions participating in or administering USDA programs are prohibited from discriminating based on race, color, national origin, religion, sex, gender identity (including gender expression), sexual orientation, disability, age, marital status, family/parental status, income derived from a public assistance program, political beliefs, or reprisal or retaliation for prior civil rights activity, in any program or activity conducted or funded by USDA (not all bases apply to all programs). Remedies and complaint filing deadlines vary by program or incident. Persons with disabilities who require alternative means of communication for program information (e.g., Braille, large print, audiotape, American Sign Language, etc.) should contact the responsible Agency or USDA's TARGET Center at (202) 720-2600 (voice and TTY) or contact USDA through the Federal Relay Service at (800) 877-8339. Additionally, program information may be made available in languages other than English. To file a program discrimination complaint, complete the USDA Program Discrimination Complaint Form, AD-3027, found online at How to File a Program Discrimination Complaint (<https://www.usda.gov/oascr/how-to-file-a-program-discrimination-complaint>) and at any USDA office or write a letter addressed to USDA and provide in the letter all of the information requested in the form. To request a copy of the complaint form, call (866) 632-9992. Submit your completed form or letter to USDA by: (1) mail: U.S. Department of Agriculture, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20250-9410; (2) fax: (202) 690-7442; or (3) email: program.intake@usda.gov. 12 reasons to Advertise frequently

12. People forget!
11. Frequent advertising helps maintain higher revenue levels in the off season.
10. You can devote more time to each customer if your store traffic is spread out evenly throughout the week.
9. Advertising frequently=higher than average results.
8. Advertising is your smallest business expense, yet without it, your business could fail.
7. You should count the day as a loss if •Your store doesn't open
•Your shelves aren't stocked
•Your phone is disconnected
•Your sales staff doesn't show up
•Your ad didn't run!
6. Today's paper is easier to find than yesterday's.
5. Frequent advertising helps you beat your competition.
4. Today's ad may influence but . . . will it close the deal for a lukewarm prospect?
3. Frequency offers you the most affordable rates.
2. Frequent advertising reaches your customers regardless of reading habits.
- and the #1 reason to advertise: People have new wants and needs every day.

For your advertising needs call your local BHG news office.
