Pooling funds together

Further action on supplying matching funds to help Garrison Parks and Rec secure a statewide grant to renovate the city's pool is in the works.

At the Garrison City Council's meeting Monday evening, Keith Witt from Better Living for Garrison explained to city council members that securing the Park District Facility Renovation Grant through the North Dakota Parks & Recreation department would be able to fund renovations at the pool.

The grant has two available grant categories. The first, for which Garrison would qualify, is a $1.5 million grant, which is aimed at cities with populations less than 14,999 people; the second, for population centers higher than 15,000, is $3.5 million.

The estimate for the pool renovation is in the neighborhood of $560,000. This would include demolition, new sitework and renovation, among other costs.

Underwood to host active shooter drill

School and county officials will gather in Underwood in April for an emergency drill aimed at preventing disaster.

An active shooter drill is set to take place at Underwood Public School in mid-April, thanks to a grant awarded to McLean County.

The active shooter simulation drill will include members of law enforcement, school personnel and "victim" actors who will all be on site, responding to a gunman threat.

Underwood School Board members were invited to a planning meeting in late January to learn about the drill and what would take place.

Superintendent Brandt Dick said this is the first drill to be conducted at Underwood Public School and that it's a good opportunity for the different entities.

Washburn examines fate of city lots

On the heels of a prospective buyer inquiring about three city lots in the Heritage Heights area, the Washburn City Commission conferred on how – and if – to install utilities – including water and sewer lines – at the group's Feb. 7 meeting.

The subject at hand consisted of 10 currently undeveloped lots just north of Silbey Way, adjacent to other subdivisions of private land and property owned by the Washburn Park Board.

Washburn City Commission President Larry Thomas explained that for anyone interested in buying available lot space, they would need to gain state approval for any water and sewer extensions.

Those plots, he added, are presently barren with only a trail running through them.

Best Beans for Gardeners

DAKOTA GARDENER

By Tom Kalb, Horticulturist
 NDSU Extension

Do you grow beans in your garden?

I loved growing beans as a kid. It was easy. The seeds were big and easy to sow. The sprouts popped out of the soil in a week. It was such a rush!

A couple months later, the beans were ready to be picked. My mom would give me a basket and I would gather the harvest. It was fun to pick the beans. When I gave the beans to Mom, she would kiss my forehead and thank me.

I fell in love with gardening. There are lots of beans you can grow with your family this summer.

Bush Blue Lake 274 is the most popular green bean in the U.S. This classic variety produces heavy crops of delicious pods.

The most reliable variety is Provider. It germinates in cool soils and produces a quick and bountiful harvest.

Have you ever grown purple beans? These are fun to grow with kids because the purple pods magically turn green when you boil them. Purple varieties are tender and delicious too.

Pole beans have a reputation for rich, old-fashioned flavor. The top performers in our trials are Monte Cristo and Monte Gusto (a wax bean). They produce straight, delicious pods that may reach 10 inches long. A great pole bean that ripens early is Seychelles. This would be a good choice in the north.

Another pole bean that is fun to grow is yardlong bean. These pods grow over 18 inches long. Yardlong beans may be the most popular garden bean grown in the world, but most Americans have never tasted them. They taste like asparagus and are sometimes called asparagus beans. I used to tell my children they only had to eat one bean for dinner, and then I showed them a yardlong pod. Fun!

Almost nobody in our trials wants to grow lima beans, but vegetable soybeans have become a trendy substitute. These soybeans are tender, nutritious and have a buttery flavor. They are a popular snack in Asia (instead of potato chips) and are often shelled and eaten while drinking beer! Look for an early variety such as Tohya or Beer Friend.

Lastly, I strongly encourage you to try filet beans. These gourmet beans are straight, very slender and crisp.

Growing beans may not seem exciting to you, but gardeners who grow filet beans in our trials absolutely rave about them. The variety named Crockett produces amazing yields of dark-green pods of the highest quality. You may want to try it.

All of these varieties can be found by doing a search on Google.

Hundreds of gardeners across North Dakota test promising varieties of beans and other vegetables in our trials. You are welcome to join our team. Go to the North Dakota Home Garden Variety Trials website at www.ag.ndsu.edu/homegardenvarietytrials. Request our online seed catalog and I will send it to you in a few weeks.

I invite you to grow beans this summer and get your children involved. You might create a love for gardening in them that lasts a lifetime.

For more information about gardening, contact your local NDSU Extension agent. Find the Extension office for your county at <https://www.ag.ndsu.edu/extension/directory/counties>.

BANANA BREAD BROWNIES

By The Recipe Critic

Ingredients

- 3/4 cup salted butter
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 3 large eggs
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 3/4 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Banana Bread Batter

- 1 cup over-ripe mashed bananas (about 2 medium bananas)
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder

Brownie Batter

- 1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa powder
- 1 cup semisweet chocolate chips divided

Directions

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. Line a 9-inch square baking pan with a parchment paper sling.

Beat or whisk the butter, granulated sugar, and brown sugar together in a large bowl. Add the eggs and beat again. Stir in flour and salt, just until combined.

In a separate medium bowl, mash the bananas and sprinkle the baking powder on top. Stir to combine. Pour half of the batter into the bowl with the bananas and stir to combine. Set aside.

DARK CHOCOLATE CHUNK OATMEAL COOKIE BARS

By Half Baked Harvest

Ingredients

- 2 1/2 cups old fashioned oats
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 cup white whole wheat or whole wheat pastry flour
- 1/2-3/4 cup light brown sugar, use more for a sweeter cookie (I use only 1/2 cup)
- 1/4-1/2 cup granulated sugar, use more for a sweeter cookie (I use only 1/4 cup)
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon kosher salt
- 1 cup melted coconut oil
- 2 large eggs
- 1 tablespoon vanilla extract
- 1 1/2 cups dark chocolate chunks

Directions

1. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. Grease a 9x13 inch baking dish with butter or line with parchment paper.

2. In a large mixing bowl or the bowl of a stand mixer, mix the oatmeal, flour, whole wheat flour brown sugar, granulated sugar, baking soda, salt, coconut oil, eggs, and vanilla. Beat until the dough is moist and all the ingredients are combined. The dough will be crumbly. Mix in the chocolate chunks.

3. Press the dough into the prepared baking dish. It will seem crumbly. Transfer to the oven and bake 18-20 minutes or until the edges are set and the bars are golden. Sprinkle with flaky salt (if desired). Let cool and then cut into bars.
