NOW HIRING
Agronomist

The North American Coal Corporation operates three surface coal mines in central North Dakota located near Beulah, ND and Underwood, ND which have over 25,000 acres of reclaimed cropland. The successful candidate will play a pivotal role in enhancing the soil health and productivity of the reclaimed land around all three locations. This position involves developing and implementing strategies to improve soil quality, which will lead to increased land value. The successful candidate will also focus on building and maintaining strong relationships with cooperative farmers to ensure the successful adoption of best practices and sustainable farming techniques while working closely with the three North Dakota surface coal mines to develop and implement strategies to meet these objectives.

REACH FOR A NEW OPPORTUNITY AT A WORLD-CLASS SURFACE MINE!

- Develop and implement soil health and fertility plans using data-driven methods to enhance soil structure, water retention, and nutrient cycling for higher crop yields.
- Customize fertility programs based on soil tests and crop needs while conducting active crop scouting to optimize productivity and cost-efficiency.
- Serve as a key point of contact for co-op farmers, offering guidance, training, and support to ensure their long-term success.
- Promote best practices in reclaimed land farming by analyzing and sharing successful strategies across the network and mine sites.
- Establish and uphold consistent, high-quality agricultural standards for reclaimed land, ensuring accountability and effective land management.
- Pursue research and explore emerging technologies to improve soil health, land productivity, and reclamation efforts.
- Enhance the long-term value and productivity of reclaimed land, benefiting farmers in McLean and Mercer Counties and supporting North American Coal mines.

Crop Advisor or Certified Professional Agronomist certification is a plus.
